SKINNY KIBBLES

Around And About Town
With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Along the battle front! With George Graupenberger's butcher shop as the objective. No one with that name ever surrenders, so George is still doing business at the old stand, irrespective of tanks and steam shovels and jack-hammers and other clattering equipment which makes a lot of noise but does things. It all happened when it was decided to make Broadway smoother, but it had to get rougher first.

The Empire Market boys are doing business on the index system. They point to the price. You can't be heard. Joe Hersher across the street is "registered" but resigned. Haven't been in to find out how Alvernis G. Flagg feels about it. If I run out of memorandum pads I'll send a messenger so I won't have to find out. Sometimes he's too positive.

Adopting the accredited system of physical motivation of putting one foot down and then have the other one follow up. I proceed along Broadway for intermittent interviews, and discover that business is going along as usual, only there isn't as much of it.

Tried to locate "Ronny" Ronsholt yesterday during the period of dismantling Broadway's pavement. The search proved unavailing. Everybody cupped their ears and appeared as deaf as "Boni Burns" bazooka. Not possessing an amplified voice I adopted the telephone system, and got the right number but not the right man. If you want to talk business with a Broadway merchant take him to Tustin.

The noise was so heavy along Broadway that Judge Ames couldn't hear the attorneys and I don't see why he complained, but he did. Every incident seems to have its redeeming feature. The guilty didn't know whether they were convicted or acquitted. However, nothing can stand in the way of progress or court procedure, so Judge Ames picked up his office and moved into more peaceful territory.

Signs along Broadway: "Flowers sent by wire." Don't send flowers by wire. Hand 'em to me. Flowers on wire always give me a somber feeling. They kind of give out the impression that "you ain't comin' back."

Walter Fine is doing some remodeling work at the corner of Fifth and Broadway. The remodeling work is still being done but Walter isn't there. At this same corner utility company making some changes with two men working and three watching. Say, a lot of changes and innovations and connotations taking place on Broadway since the invasion of the steam shovels and their rattling colleagues. But it should be remembered that we wouldn't have had our fine highways unless the roads were torn up first.

I don't know whether the improvement of Broadway is likely to increase the business of the osteopaths, the "chiropractors" or professions which blazed the trail, but there is more of a chance for dislocated vertebrae—which means more business.

However, the street will be smooth sailing one of these days and the risk of going from the courthouse to the annex will again be offered for your inconvenience.

So I walked down Broadway, on the west side, until I reached Smith and Tuthill, looked across the street to the church, decided there was a common bond of sympathy in which for the moment I had by desire to cooperate, and moved away from the scene of aggravating improvement. There is always more or less inconvenience attached to all progress.

So, if you are a business man on Broadway, my recommendation is to possess your soul with patience. The work will be over just as soon as the contractors can. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

GLASS PLANT UNION GETS RECOGNITION

Irvine Teamsters end Walkout Today

Smoke poured from the huge smokestacks at the Mississippi Glass company's big plant today for the first time in 50 days as 60 striking glassworkers went back to work. At the same time, The Journal learned today that the strike of teamsters at the Irvine Warehouse company is settled and 18 workers will return to their jobs tomorrow.

Both of the strikes were settled today. The strike of the glassworkers was ended with a complete victory for the union, according to George Benson, business representative for the union, affiliated with the AFL.

PAY INCREASED
Benson said the glass company officials agreed to recognize the union as the sole bargaining agency for all employees. This was a point which has held up settlement of the strike, and means recognition of the union. The workers also received pay increases ranging from 10 to 13 per cent.

The Orange county strike picture entered the state AFL convention at Long Beach this morning, when a resolution was introduced accusing the glass company of refusing to aid in settling the strike. The resolution was withdrawn, and a coast-wide boycott lifted when the convention learned that the strike was settled.

Settlement was effected at a meeting last night in Buena Park. Benson said the glass company officials have agreed to reemploy all striking workers. An iron-clad picket line which has been maintained about the factory was lifted today as the men went back to work.

The picket line at the Irvine warehouse also was dissolved today, and the men will go back to work tomorrow. Hart Reynolds, field representative for the union, said the strike was settled to the satisfaction of the union and Irvine officials. Brad Hellis, manager of the big Irvine ranch, expressed similar sentiments. The strike had lasted about a week and a half.

The teamsters were demanding union recognition and a wage scale ranging from 65 to 85 cents an hour. Previous wage scales had been from 40 to 50 cents an hour, union men said. It was said that 18 men had gone out on strike.

SECOND MWD BLAST REPORTED

COLTON. (AP)—A second reported attempt to dynamite the power line to the San Jacinto tunnel project resulted today in increased patrols by the Metropolitan Water district.

Two blasts were set off under a transmission tower a half mile east of Colton, Engineer F. E. Weymouth said.

One charge failed to explode, the other damaged the tower but did not interrupt service.

CIO union tunnel workers have been on strike at the San Jacinto project for several weeks and the water district has recruited replacements.

Courthouse Flag Upside Down

The distress signal floated over the courthouse today. The big American flag was upside down, but no one seemed to know if the distress signal was for the board of supervisors or county employees, both of which groups are worrying about salaries.

The flag flew in reverse position about half the morning, until somebody called the courthouse about it. Then it was changed back in a hurry.

Duel for N. Y. Mayorship

SEN. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Tammany Fate at Stake in Vote

NEW YORK. (AP)—Tammany's fate as a political force may be determined today by a vote of 1,000,000 enrolled Republicans and Democrats in a mayoralty primary contest of extraordinary bitterness. The outcome of their election may also have far reaching import and national interest in both major parties. There are three major candidates:

WILL LEAVES $165,000

Benjamin Kraemer, wealthy Placentia rancher who died Sept. 7, left an estate estimated at $165,000.

This was revealed today when his nephew, S. P. Kraemer, filed a petition for probate of the Kraemer will, which names him executor.

Already pending in probate court is the huge estate of Benjamin Kraemer's brother, Samuel, who died last May 9 and left cash bequests totaling $135,000, besides extensive real estate.

The will filed today was dated last June 29, and leaves the estate to the widow, Mrs. Mary P. Kraemer, and nine children, Mrs. Mary Kraemer Reis of Whittier, Mrs. Emma Kraemer Willis of Placentia, Mrs. Gladys Kraemer Allee of Anaheim, Mrs. Lucy Kraemer Brunet of Placentia, Benjamin Kraemer, Jr., of Placentia, Mrs. Louise Kraemer Heffner of Anaheim, Mrs. Anna Kraemer Hathway of Norwalk, William and Rosabelle Kraemer of Alhambra.

A 20-acre orange ranch on Bradford avenue is left to Mrs. Kraemer and to Benjamin, Jr., and a house and lot in Placentia, a lot at Lake Arrowhead, and household equipment to the widow.

The widow and children are to share Mr. Kraemer's library and his stock in the Anaheim Union Water company. The 7.21-acre home place is divided among the children except Benjamin, Jr., who shares the larger ranch with his mother. Benjamin and Rosabelle are to get $2000 each if either of them should marry before the estate is settled. Otherwise the money is to be distributed to them on closing of the estate.

Schools to Get Half Holiday
The 150th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States means virtually a half holiday for Santa Ana school children, although banks, post office, city and county offices will remain open as usual.

All city schools have been asked to dismiss pupils after four full hours of school work.

'Whyzit' Wins a $1 Prize

"Whyzit George Washington fought with his soldiers for freedom—then married a widow?" That's the first winner in The Journal's new "Whyzit" game. It was submitted by Jean d'Ath and it netted her $1. If Miss d'Ath will give The Journal her address, a check for that amount will be mailed to her.

PIONEER S. A. STORE OWNER DIES TODAY

Ends Long Career of Max Reinhaus

One of Santa Ana's pioneer merchants, co-owner of the well-known Reinhaus dry goods store here, and a local resident since 1874, Max Reinhaus, 82, died suddenly at his home, 809 West Fourth street, late this morning. With his brother Julius, Mr. Reinhaus operated what was Santa Ana's largest store for many years, located at Fourth and Bush streets. Another brother was associated with them when they first established a store in 1885, but he soon retired, and Max and Julius Reinhaus operated it together from 1890 until 1928 when they retired.

Mr. Reinhaus was born in Germany, and arrived in Los Angeles in 1873. He moved to Santa Ana in 1874 as manager of the Gilchrist store. Since that time he had been prominent in all civic and business affairs.

In 1903 Mr. Reinhaus was elected to membership in the Santa Ana board of education. He held that position for two terms, retiring in 1911. During his terms on the board, Mr. Reinhaus was associated with J. A. Cranston, superintendent of schools, and the late J. N. Anderson, J. Beatty, R. L. Freeman, H. H. Hossler and J. A. Hankey.

He was active in affairs of the local Masonic orders, serving as treasurer of Santa Ana lodge No. 241, F. and A. M., for 40 years. He was also a member of the chapter council, Order of Eastern Star for some time.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Martha Reinhaus; one daughter, Mrs. Irma R. Silverman of Oakland; one son, Stanley Reinhaus, of Forgy, Reinhaus and Forgy, attorneys; two brothers, Julius Reinhaus of Santa Ana and Morris Reinhaus of Heider, Idaho; two sisters, Mrs. Hulda Gilmacher and Pauline Reinhaus, both of Santa Ana; and two grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Smith and Tuthill mortuary.

REBELS CLAIM NEW VICTORY

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish front. (AP)—The Spanish government's desperate drive to cut communications between Teruel and Zaragoza was flung back today in a terrific encounter.

The insurgents claimed the assault cost the government 5000 casualties.

On the Gijon front, the stubborn resistance of the hardy Asturians brought a tribute from the insurgent high command.

An insurgent column, driving toward the Valencia government's last important Biscayan port, smashed through defensive lines along the Leon highway, pushing its spearhead to the edge of Villa Simplicio, about seven miles north of Pola De Gordon.

It's surprisin' how many big newspaper men of today got their start on a small town paper. That's the best thing a budding reporter can get because he has to learn all the angles.

WEDDING 'KNOT' FOR CUPID'S AIDE SLIPS

Dr. Clinton Wunder of Los Angeles, partner in the Wedding Chapel here, found today that his own marital knot wasn't tied so tight. It began slipping.

Mrs. Thelma Mills Wunder, film actress, had sought a divorce from the former Townsend plan leader who recently entered the Santa Ana marriage "business," on grounds of clashing temperaments.

The young woman testified in Los Angeles superior court yesterday:

"I loved him; I still love him; I always will love him."

Wunder, she said, refused to live with her, provide for her, and said she was "very dumb," Mrs. Wunder said. "It was a mental beating," she added.

The couple separated last April 15 after about two years of married life, which began in Chicago and was punctuated by eight or 10 intermediate separations, she testified.

A property settlement, giving Mrs. Wunder $900 in monthly payments, was approved by the court.

FDR TO TALK ON COURT

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt and two staunch opponents of his judiciary reorganization program will engage in a three-sided discussion this week-end which may add new fuel to the nationwide controversy over the supreme court.

Each will give a speech inspired by the observance tomorrow of the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution.

Senator Borah (R., Idaho) long recognized as an authority on constitutional law, will lead off tonight at a Masonic meeting.

President Roosevelt's address, which may hold the key to his future court policies, will be delivered at the base of the Washington monument tomorrow night. It will be the principal Constitution Day talk.

Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) will round out the discussion with a speech Saturday at a Michigan political rally. His subject is "The Republican Challenge." He will speak Friday also on Constitution Day.

Whetting interest in all three addresses is current discussion over the alleged Ku Klux Klan membership of Justice Hugo L. Black, whom the President recently named to the only supreme court vacancy which has occurred during his administration.

Pomona Fair to Open Tomorrow

With a constitution day patriotic program and a six-furlong opening racing handicap as its opening day features, the 16th annual Los Angeles County fair at Pomona gets under way at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The first day's program will commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the constitution.

Saturday, designated as governor's day, will be highlighted by dedication of 10 permanent fair buildings by Gov. Frank F. Merriam. The new structures, erected at a cost of $500,000, have replaced all tents and temporary structures formerly used to house exhibits.

Rush Iron Lung Through Santa Ana

An iron lung being rushed to San Diego to combat the infantile paralysis epidemic currently raging in that city was conveyed through Orange county last night by California highway patrolmen.

Consigned to San Diego general hospital, the iron lung, which has been described as the only effective weapon against death once poliomyelitis has entered the lungs, was brought from Los Angeles to the Orange county highway patrolmen, from where it was sped through to San Diego county by officers of the Orange county patrol unit.

LEAGUE WILL REVIEW WAR IN ORIENT

Defenders Recapture City of Lotien

HONGKONG. (AP)—The claim that a Japanese cruiser had been sunk by Chinese airplanes off the South China coast was made today in Chinese reports from Canton—unconfirmed from other sources—of two successful air attacks on Japanese naval units.

Three Chinese bombers and two pursuit planes, the reports said, attacked a Japanese cruiser and destroyers and a torpedo boat off the port of Swatow.

Three large bombs struck the cruiser, which sank," and unconfirmed Canton dispatch asserted.

A similar raid put to flight a group of Japanese destroyers along the coast between Swatow and Hongkong, the Chinese said.

Chinese at Canton asserted Japanese have lost one cruiser, two destroyers and seven planes in South China while "there were no Chinese losses."

PLAGUE THREATENS SHANGHAI AREA

SHANGHAI. (AP)—A cholera epidemic reaching grave proportions spread through the foreign sectors of this war-racked metropolis today, striking down more than 100 additional victims overnight.

The sweep of the dread plague raised the number of cases in the international settlement and the French concession alone to 740. There are an additional 1400 suspected cases in the two areas.

In the Chinese sections of the city, where war refugees have been huddled together without even the most primitive sanitary provisions, the number of cases was believed in the thousands. Because of conditions it has been impossible even to estimate the number affected outside the settlement and the French concession.

The great number of those stricken are Chinese who have been forced into Shanghai from today from the center of their native population of the foreign sectors has been almost doled by the tragic army of homeless civilians. Only a few foreigners have been affected.

CHINESE TAKE LOTIEN

Chinese counterattacked in force today from the center of their strong Shanghai defense line and drove the Japanese from battle-scarred Lotien, 15 miles northwest of the international settlement.

Despite a steady downpour of rain, the Chinese troops were said (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

MANN TO HEAD STATE LEAGUE

Charles H. Mann, mayor of Anaheim, today was elected president of the League of California Municipalities.

Mayor Mann will serve during the year 1938. He will succeed Jean L. Vincen, of Fresno. His election took place at the annual convention of the state league at San Jose.

Mann began his service on the Anaheim council in 1919 and has served ever since, with intermissions. A year ago he became vice president of the state league and three years ago was named on the state board of directors.

AWAIT ITALY WORD UPON SUB PATROL

Anglo-French Armada
Now Seeking 'Pirates'

LONDON. (AP)—Great Britain and France rushed their Mediterranean naval activities to virtually a war-time basis today and intimated that Italy must make the next move if she wants to join an "anti-piracy" patrol in the inland sea.

The two powers took the stand that any Italian suggestion, including Duce's demand for patrol parity, would be "considered."

But neither England nor France had any intention of addressing further requests to Rome for collaboration.

Thus, the Italian demands for equality in the new Mediterranean patrol scheme remained in a tense diplomatic impasse.

Weighed with powerful depth charges and torpedoes, a mighty Anglo-French armada was mobilized to stop for good all Mediterranean pirate submarine attacks on neutral shipping. War planes became the "eyes" of this fleet.

The first contingent of destroyers to reinforce the vast Anglo-French piracy patrol sped from England toward Europe's trouble-fraught "backyard."

The munitions cargoes were reminiscent of World war days when Britain battled to prevent German U-boats from cutting off her food supply.

The Chinese spokesman said that the heavy rain had slowed activities along the entire 30 mile front from Shanghai's north station northwest to the Yangtze river. The Japanese, he said, were having great difficulty moving their motorized units through the mud-mired roads.

DRIVE EXPECTED
Major operations in the Shanghai sector can be expected shortly, a Japanese army spokesman said, now that Gen. Iwane Matsui has taken over the high command in the area. He indicated that the long-heralded big push to drive the Chinese into the interior might be in the offing. The Japanese strength at Shanghai has been variously estimated at from 60,000 to 120,000 men.

A Japanese embassy spokesman announced today that the American flag could not be considered protection for an American property mortgaged to American banks and other institutions.

The question was raised in connection with the recent bombing of the Wing-On Company's cotton factory at Woosung, which flew the American flag because it was mortgaged to an American concern. The same rule would apply to all foreign mortgaged property, he said.

Casualties among Japanese officers and men in the Shanghai sector were placed by a Japanese army spokesman at 905 killed and 2764 wounded between Aug. 23 and Sept. 13. These figures do not include Japanese marines, who suffered heavily.

The spokesman admitted these losses were far greater than for the same period of the 1932 Shanghai war. He insisted that Chinese estimates of 10,000 Japanese killed and wounded were greatly exaggerated.

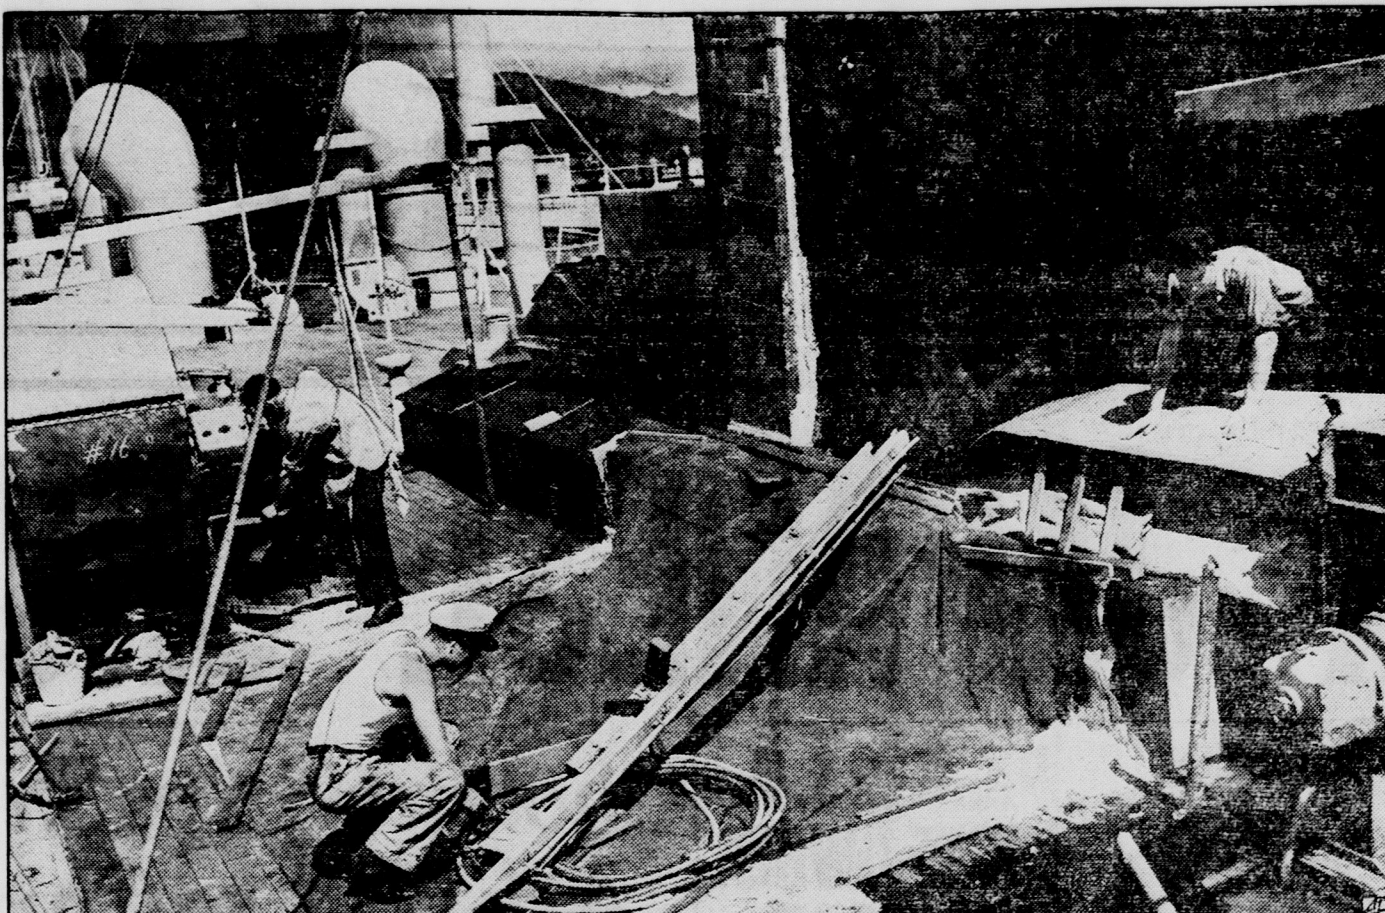

LEAGUE TO HEAR
SINO-JAPANESE CASE

GENEVA. (AP)—The League of Nations council put China's appeal against Japanese aggression in the hands of a revived advisory committee today and asked the United States to take part in its deliberations.

Quick dispatch of invitations to Washington and 22 other capitals made it certain that the United States must soon decide if she will cooperate with the committee, on which her representative formerly served.

By its action the league also pushed into the background any question of sanctions against Japan—at least for a time. With China's conditional approval, the

P. T. A. FAVORS SEX EDUCATION

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The board of managers of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers was on record today as favoring sex education for school children of high school age. The board also went on record of favoring strict enforcement of laws governing liquor sales and an extensive statewide health survey of school districts.

Under the sex education plan as proposed by Mrs. E. Elenkorn, chairman of the social hygiene section of the congress, a counselor or some one capable of helping youth in the adjustment of problems of sex will be appointed where no sex instruction has been given in the home.

U. S. MAY JOIN
LEAGUE PARLEY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Hull announced today that the United States government would consider carefully the invitation reported to have been sent to Washington by the League of Nations asking its participation in the reconstituted advisory committee on the Far East.

The secretary of state declined at his press conference to speculate on the probable decision but acknowledged, in response to questions, that a precedent for American cooperation in the committee's work was set when this government participated in a consultative capacity in the agency's work when it considered the Manchurian crises in 1933.

JAPANESE CLAIM
PEIPING VICTORY

PEIPING. (AP)—Japanese reported today that the center of the Chinese battlefield in North China had been shattered and Gen. Wan Pu-Lin's Manchurian divisions were in full retreat.

Latest Japanese advices from the front 30 miles due south of here said the 100-mile-long Chinese line had been split and its left wing was being driven to the west by repeated hammer blows from the pursuing Japanese.

Japanese headquarters described the advance as the greatest offensive undertaken by the Japanese army since the Russo-Japanese war.

U. S. DROPS COTTON
EMBARGO QUERY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—High government officials passed along the word today that there is no present prospect of an embargo on cotton shipments to Japan and China.

The question of whether cotton should be adjudged an implement of war—and automatically banned as cargo for government-owned vessels—is up to the munitions control board, they said.

That board, it was specifically added, has undertaken no study which could lead to such a decision.

Tommy Manville 'Nice Boy' Wife Says on Divorce Trip

DENVER. (AP)—Marcelle Edwards Manville, en route to Reno to divorce "that nice boy," Tommy Manville, explained between planes at the Denver airport today a financial settlement had been arranged "so very nicely."

The reddish-blond former show girl, who became Mrs. Manville No. 4 four years ago, said she had promised her attorney, Carl Helm, of New York, she would not tell the amount of the settlement.

"Everything is very nice," Mrs. Manville beamed, and in succession she included in that the settlement, Tommy, Dorothy (Honey) Goering, Tommy's secretary and attorneys on both sides.

Mrs. Manville said there had been no "stinkpots and firebrands" thrown in the negotiations, despite Manville's recent request for an attorney who could throw such things.

Asked what her grounds for divorce would be, after she has resided in Reno six weeks, Mrs. Manville puzzled.

"Let me think. Incompatibility, I guess. Yes that will be it," she said.

If Mrs. Manville had any slight disparagement for her estranged husband, it was to cast doubt on his preference for blondes.

"Yes, his first three wives were blondes. But all this blonde thing is just talk," she said.

She insisted she had not remarked recently that Tommy should have his "head examined," a report that caused Tommy to threaten to go into a huddle with doctors and attorneys.

Mrs. Manville admitted, however, if Tommy and a trainload of blondes should arrive in Reno, she probably would have to see him.

"Reno is such a small place," she said.

Claims Townsend Board Quits
Dist. Secy. H. F. Kenney of the 19th congressional district General Welfare organization, who lives in Santa Ana, said today that the Baldwin Park congressional board deserted the Townsend ranks and now is acting as a district board for the General Welfare movement.

The action reported by Kenney came after Congressman Harry Sheppard had addressed a meeting of the Federated Townsend clubs of the 12th congressional district last night.

We respect that influence when it is with us, and reverse it when it is with us no longer in the flesh. Death takes the mortal; good deeds are imperishable. So in the days which are left to us we can travel by the beacon light of friendship left on the highways of life for our guidance and comfort by such good men as Ed. Summers.

NOTED CITRUS GROWER DIES

POMONA. (AP)—Word was received here today of the death from a heart attack of W. A. Johnstone, 67, prominent San Dimas citrus grower, in Winnipeg, Canada, where he was visiting.

Johnstone, president of the Los Angeles county civil service commission, was formerly president of the state civil service commission, former director of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, chairman of the state water commission and widely known in banking circles. He is survived by his widow and three daughters.

NAVY 'LANDS' ON PORCH; ARRESTED

Three Long Beach sailors literally dropped anchor on the corner of Harbor front porch at the Ocean avenue near Garden Grove last night, and today they faced charges from drunkenness to grand theft of an auto.

The Dungs had gone to bed and their son, Kenneth, Garden Grove school teacher, was quietly studying in the front room when a car suddenly careened into the yard, smashed against the front porch and overturned in a carefully groomed flower bed.

Highway patrolmen who investigated quickly identified the car as one reported stolen in Long Beach just 15 minutes before the crash occurred.

Long Beach police later booked Theo. Branner, 26, who assertedly was driving the car, on auto theft and drunk driving charges, and arrested Chester A. Sanderowski, 24, and Martin Lipka, 24, on accessory and drunkenness counts.

All three of the sailors belong to the crew of the U.S.S. New Orleans, they told officers. The wrecked car was registered to O. L. Christian, West Sixth street, Long Beach. The incident occurred at approximately 10:45 p. m.

SIGN ARMISTICE IN DAIRY WAR

Justice D. J. Dodge signed an armistice today in Costa Mesa's dairy war.

Malicious mischief charges against Earl Volberding, proprietor of the Kiser dairy, were dismissed by Justice Dodge today at a court session held at the bedside of Leo Payne, erstwhile dissembling witness whose absence already had caused two continuances.

Bolberding thus was cleared of charges of destroying bottles belonging to the E. R. Williams dairy. The feud began when Williams was arrested on charges of using bottles other than his own.

Payne's testimony, taken when he was discovered to be ill at home, indicated he had not seen Volberding destroy Williams bottles as had been contended by the prosecution. Justice Dodge dismissed the case because of lack of evidence.

SHEPPARD TO TALK HERE

Congressman Harry R. Sheppard comes to Orange county tomorrow. He will speak at a meeting in the La Habra Woman's clubhouse.

The event will start with a dinner at 6:30 p. m. and the public is invited. Those who wish to attend were asked to call Chester I. Dale, whose offices are located on North Main street, Santa Ana.

Dale is chairman of the California Assembly of Democrats of Orange county, sponsoring organization of the meeting. This will be the congressman's first talk in Orange county since returning from Washington.

Spread of Ship Strike Seen

SAN PEDRO. (AP)—Any diversion of ship freight from San Francisco to Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors will result in an extension of the teamster blockade here, a bulletin issued to members of the Waterfront Employers' Association of Southern California said today.

Warning of the teamsters' intention was given the bureau of the association by Horace Waterbury, president and business agent of the teamsters' San Pedro local. Membership of the association includes steamship companies and agents and stevedoring companies.

Cafe Man Loses To Oil Firm

The Commonwealth Oil company of Huntington Beach today held a $700 superior court judgment against Sam L. Lewis, operator of a cafe near Seal Beach, in a fraud suit involving oil well equipment.

The oil company charged that Lewis represented to them that he owned three wells in the Huntington Beach field, and leased equipment from them on an agreement to pay five per cent of any production from the wells. Lewis did not own the well, the company said, and Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames gave the judgment late yesterday.

JURY HEARS ZONING CASE HERE TODAY

Testimony in Judge J. G. Mitchell's second police court jury trial of the year was opened shortly before noon today, with Claudine Minter defending charges she is operating a vegetable stand at Flower street and Santa Ana boulevard in violation of the city zoning ordinance.

A jury of eight women and four men was selected this morning, and City Attorney Lew Blodgett commenced the prosecution before the noon recess.

Arrested two weeks ago on charges of violating the zoning ordinance and operating a vegetable stand without a license, Miss Minter pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial—the second in nearly a year for Judge Mitchell's court. She declared the zoning ordinance was passed after her vegetable stand was established.

WATER DATA SOUGHT IN IRVINE CASE

Five-Year Study Is Planned in Suit

Appointment of three masters to collect data regarding actual flows of water in the Santa Ana river will be the next step in settling the famous Irvine case. The stipulation, entered into between the Irvine company, plaintiff, and the Water Conservation association, defendant, provides for observations and studies and collection of specific data relating to water measurements during a period of five years.

PROCEDURE OUTLINED

Three masters are to be appointed during the five-year period, one to be named by the Orange County Water district, intervenor in the suit, one by the defendant and the third by both groups. Should they not agree on the third, the master is to be named by the court. The three masters are to study and measure stream flow in several sections of the Santa Ana river channel between Mentone and the Pacific ocean and to the underlying water basins of the river to enable them to determine the respective rates and amounts of absorption into the underground basins, and the effect which the diversion and spreading of the waters by the Water Conservation association has upon flows and absorptions. Among other things, the masters will measure the combined surface flow of the river and canals, to be measured at the mouth of Santa Ana canyon near Mentone and at the site of the proposed Prado dam. In the event the Prado dam is so constructed as to allow a flow of at least 3000 cubic feet of water per second, the masters will place a measuring device on the dam outlet.

RESTRICTIONS

During the five-year period, the Water Conservation association must confine its diversions of the waters of the river "at the mouth of Santa Ana canyon above the junction of the river with Mill creek, and the defendant cannot assign or transfer any of the rights it claims to have for spreading water." Neither can the defendant increase the capacity of its diversion works nor enlarge its spreading grounds, nor interfere with the natural flow of Plunge creek.

During the five-year period, and until final decision of the court, whenever the combined flow of the river and canals at the mouth of Santa Ana canyon near Mentone shall be less than 110 second feet, the defendant may at all such times spread the available water. When the total flow exceeds this amount, spreading must cease until a first peak flow of 3000 second feet in any one season (Oct. 1 to Sept. 30) shall have passed the present U. S. G. S. gauging station near Prado. Figures of similar nature govern spreading in following peak flows.

MINIMUM FLOW

If during the five-year period the Prado dam is constructed, after the first peak flow of 3000 second feet has passed or reached the measuring point at Prado, and runoff waters are being stored in Prado reservoir at a rate which combined with the released flow from Prado reservoir exceeds 500 second feet, the defendant may spread water until such time as the combined rate of accumulation and release at Prado falls below 500 second feet, at which state the defendant shall cease spreading. Limitations here divisions are limited to the five-year period, and are not conclusive as to the rights of the respective parties as finally determined by the court.

The stipulation now has been signed by James Irvine, plaintiff, Francis Cuttle, president of the Water Conservation association, defendant; President Willis H. Warner and Secretary C. A. Palmer of the Orange County Water district, intervenor; Scarborough & Brown, attorneys for the plaintiff; C. L. McFarland, attorney for the defendant; Ruten, Mize & Kroese, attorneys for the Orange County Water district.

SEEK TRACE OF KILLER IN AUTO SHOPS

Auto repair shops throughout Southern California today had come under the dragnet laid by the sheriff's office and California highway patrol as they pressed their search for the hit-and-run driver who killed Ramon Segura, 14-year-old Mexican bean picker, on deserted Irvine boulevard Tuesday.

All auto service shops and mechanics have been asked to notify officers of any calls for new windshield or wind wing glass, it was learned. Officers believe the impact probably smashed the windshield on the killer's car.

Investigators' second best clue was a report that a small black coupe had stopped momentarily at the scene of the accident at approximately the time young Segura died.

An inquest into the death, meanwhile, has been delayed for several days until a more thorough investigation can be made, Coroner Earl Abbey announced.

NEW YORK. (AP)—A related rally in the rails helped to stiffen a wavering stock market today and many issues pushed up fractions to 3 or more points.

Carriers responded to reports a compromise wage agreement was in the offing, with management and laborhood representatives meeting with the federal mediator in Chicago. Hopes were also revived of a boost in freight rates being granted by the interstate commerce commission.

Notwithstanding the better action of the railway division and other departments, activity was relatively small.

Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

JUDGE HITS CLAUSE IN CONSTITUTION

Interstate Commerce Clause Weak, Claims

Declaring that industry is no longer localized, since rapid transportation has virtually eliminated state lines, Presiding Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday told Santa Ana Kiwanians the interstate commerce clause of the constitution is outmoded.

Commemorating constitution week, Judge Ames said the document, "with all its imperfections," has stood the test of 150 years and will continue to stand the test.

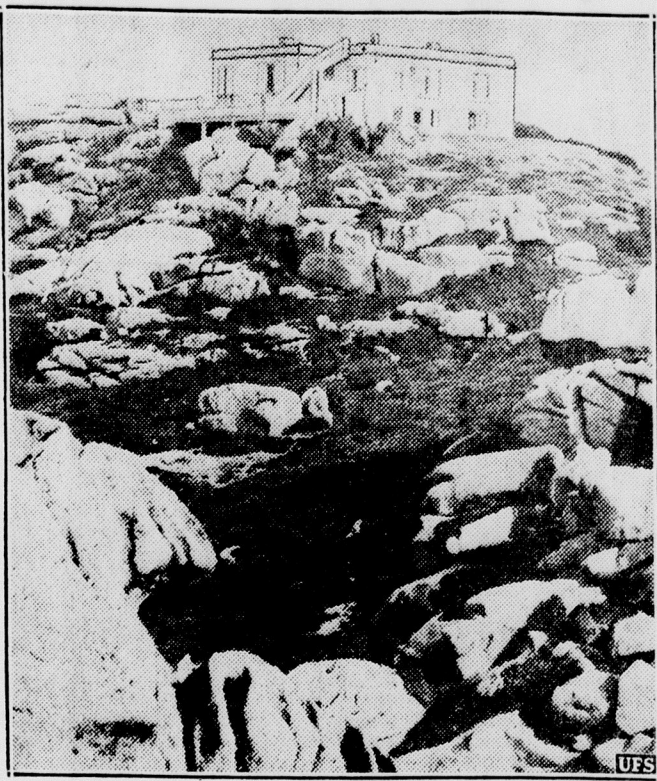

He singled out the interstate commerce clause, however, as being the most fundamental point on which the constitution has not kept abreast of the times.

"Congress' power to regulate commerce has been interpreted by the supreme court as applying only to articles after they have entered the channels of interstate commerce, and not while they are being manufactured," the judge explained.

"If an amendment is necessary to bring this clause up to date, why not do it?" he concluded.

Vice President Maurice Enderle conducted the meeting in absence of President R. B. Newcom. Bob Harness, program chairman, introduced Judge Ames.

Island for Lindy

A view of Millo Island, off the Brittany coast of France, which Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh recently visited and which, it is reported, he may buy for his home. There are only two houses on the island, one of them the chateau shown above, formerly occupied by the late French statesman, Aristide Briand. The other building is a farmhouse.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

Everybody in Townsend circles in Orange county these days is after new members for the clubs. Monday evening the writer attended Santa Ana Club No. 2, which is where he holds his membership, and learned that 35 new members have been added since Sept. 1. What his club has done many others are duplicating and some surpassing. This but illustrates the new interest and enthusiasm to carry on the fight to enact Townsend plan into law which is everywhere being manifested.

The writer wishes to apologize to Oceanview Club No. 1 for not having given publicity to its meeting held Tuesday evening in the Oceanview school when another of its famous pot-luck dinners was scheduled. It was not intentional to miss writing the affair up but can only be described as being one of those absent-minded professor happenings. He promises to be good hereafter. That is, provided Mrs. Hamilton Lewis, secretary, does her part by writing him in advance.

The writer called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barber in Santa Ana Gardens Tuesday evening and found Mr. Barber on the mend from his recent injuries resulting from an auto wreck. He will be bedfast for sometime, however, due to several fractured ribs and other injuries but is capable of receiving callers, which are appreciated. He is president of Santa Ana Club No. 12.

President R. E. Marks of Santa Ana Club No. 10 writes that the regular weekly meeting will be in the Unitarian church at Eighth and Bush streets at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow. An entertainment program is being provided.

Santa Ana Club No. 1, which now meets on Friday night, will go to the first time at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Roosevelt school on East First street. Israel Santol will preside over the business session.

Mr. and Mrs. D. V. Hearn are leaving Saturday for Camp Nelson for a two weeks sojourn where a period of relaxation will be enjoyed. The writer has a hunch that the deer and the fish had better take to cover from threats he heard Hearn expressing. They will stop on the way up at Lancaster for an overnight stay with the Carl Bergman family. Mrs. Bergman is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hearn who are members of Santa Ana Club No. 12.

The writer still "batches" due to his daughter, Virginia Taylor of San Diego, having suffered a hemorrhage of the throat last Friday evening, necessitating Mrs. Robb prolonging her stay in the beach city. The daughter is improving.

Santa Ana Club No. 11 meets tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street with Fred Seifert in the chair. Fred surely knows how to give a bride away—ask the Garden Grove Club No. 1, where he performed in the capacity of the bride's father last Monday evening. The rumors are it will be an interesting meeting tomorrow evening.

Orange Club No. 2 will meet at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Townsend club building at 149 South Glassell street. Judge L. F. Coburn will preside.

Santa Ana Club No. 9 will meet at 7:30 tomorrow night in the C. A. Holloway home at 2027 Cypress street. Holloway who is president will direct the meeting.

George W. Lounsbury, president of Santa Ana Club No. 1, announces the club will meet at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the Orange Avenue Christian church at McFadden and Orange streets. A. Mc-

Kenneth Plenty Tough; Truck Bounces Off Legs

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP)—Three-year-old Kenneth Jamieson, Los Angeles youngster, is plenty rugged, police agreed today.

Kenneth darted ahead of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jamieson, while crossing a street.

A heavy power company truck knocked him down and ran over both his legs. X-rays revealed the boy did not even suffer a bruise.

Mrs. F. G. Miles, Britain's only woman aircraft designer, helped to build the plane in which her husband will compete for the King's Cup.

Locks For Cars Latest Police Tagging Plan

SEATTLE, (AP)—The council public safety committee considered today a plan to put locks on automobile door handles instead of pasting traffic tickets on windshields.

"Experience in Kelso, Wash., and Fresno, Cal., where the plan has been tried, proved motorists won't drive around very long with the lock on their doors—a sign to everybody the car has been tagged," Patrolman R. W. Peay said.

Peay and Patrolman W. W. Palmer, both of Seattle, designed and patented the locks. The locks do not interfere with operation of the automobile, but can only be removed at traffic division headquarters.

Hitler Book Leaves Vienna Cold

VIENNA, (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler's book, "Mein Kampf," put on open sale here for the first time since the Nazi party was declared illegal, isn't having the success in Austria that people hoped, or feared, it would.

For one thing, the Germans expected that a cheap edition, which even the poorest could buy, would be permitted. It wasn't. Again, no advertising is allowed in its behalf.

The Linzer Volksblatt declared that "Mein Kampf" would not be the dangerous propaganda Austrian officials for four years feared it would be. The newspaper said people could now realize the book had been written so long ago that much of it didn't apply now, and that they could find plenty of things in it that were not true.

Two Jewish booksellers told The Associated Press they were stocking the book. One regarded it as stock in trade. The other feared that if he did not carry it, Nazis might break his show windows.

Nazis Blamed For Butchers' Slump

WE WOMEN DRIVERS

WHAT WITH all the slurring remarks that fly around about the feminine touch at the wheel, we have to stick together and assert our efficiency. Of course, you and I know that women are the best drivers on the road—but our men folk seem to take a little convincing! Among other things, they claim we don't take care of the car. Truth to tell, it is something of a job. GOODRICH SILVERTOWN, at 101 N. Broadway, is the solution. Their specialty is rejuvenating tired chariots—inside and out. That includes the smartest looking seat covers in town. Phone 3400 and have them call for your car.

THE PHOTOPLAY FLOWER

CONTEST
DON'T fail to see the MISSION FLOWER SHOP window of "mums"—designed and arranged for the PHOTOPLAY contest. This week, entered by special request of the contest committee. The season for big chrysanthemums is just beginning—inaugurated at the MISSION by their spectacular contest window. And, incidentally, have you seen any of their Autumn street corners of baby mums—they're different, and devastating with the new mahogany and copper tones. Main street entrance of the Arcade Bldg.

REFINISHING AND UPHOLSTERING

WHETHER your furniture is Chippendale or "just furniture," its condition, rather than its style, sets the tone of your home. If "clothes make the man," furniture makes the home—and its condition has just as much effect on the morale of its inhabitants. The FAIRMAC STUDIO specializes in refinishing and upholstering—both antiques and modern furniture. And, by the way, they've some new additions to their antique display—a pair of Georgian side chairs that will make your tongue hang out. A black walnut chest with hand carved door-pulls.

STEIN'S FOR SCHOOL SUPPLIES

FROM KNEE socks to ankle socks—kindergarten to college. The most comprehensive stock of school supplies you'll find at STEIN'S, 318 S. Broadway. Pass the word around among the new out-of-town J. C. students—it's always confusing to have to stock up in a strange place where you don't know the "ropes." Mr. Stein, always close to school goings-on, will know just what you need, if you're not sure. And did you know about the complete photographic department at Stein's? Every kind of kodak and camera accessories—AND full instruction in the art of photography. 307 West Fourth.

NEW DECORATIVE ART STUDIO

IF YOU'RE considering redecorating, remodeling or just a little Fall renovation—hold everything until the opening of the new Decorative Art Studio, 318 S. Broadway. Mr. Speicher, well-known through his several studios along the Coast, issues an advance invitation to Santa Ana home-makers to attend the Grand Opening in the very near future—watch this column for the exact date. The Studio will include a particularly fine Drapery Department, murals a specialty with Mr. Speicher—and general exterior and interior decor in the modern mood.

THE WORLD AT ONE FINGER-TIP

AS MUCH fun as an electric train. As magic as the wand of Cinderella's godmother. The new General Electric Touch Tuning. I saw Santa Ana's first model yesterday, as it came out of the packing box at the DUNSTAN ELECTRIC CO. And I've not been so excited since the last Xmas I thought there was a Santa Claus. Different from anything in radio to date, it's the only completely automatic tuning. No turning of any knobs or dials—just one touch of a button and there's your station! That one touch turns your radio on, brings in the broadcast and controls the volume! And—sing hallelujah!—no more blaring and static between stations. It's speaker is automatically and completely silenced while the indicator is moving.

But the real fun of the new G. E. is in watching it "tick." You touch one of its sixteen labeled buttons and off goes the indicator, speeding noiselessly across the dial to the one point where the program selected is tuned to hairline precision. Then, Presto! music. It's uncanny. Playing with it is like eating popcorn. You can't stop.

And here's your chance to play: DUNSTAN ELECTRIC has just opened their new Radio room—purely for your enjoyment. The management asked me to extend to your invitation—drop in when you're in town and hear your favorite program. It's the ideal spot to rest and cool off from shopping. DUNSTAN ELECTRIC CO., 213 N. Broadway.

TIME FOR FALL PLANTING

WITH the children safely off to school, there's time to begin thinking about the garden again—poor neglected thing. Sweet peas, of course—you'll want the Cuprocide Treatment, that insures no damping off of the blossoms. Especially recommended by the SANTA ANA NURSERY, 1435 S. Main. They suggest planting your Ranunculus, King Alfred Frodilis, Tulips and Watsonias as soon as possible.

POTTERY SUGGESTION

THE TREND in pottery seems to be away from the multi-colored table to a two-tone set. A welcome change in the greater range of individuality it affords and greater subtlety in color effects. Canary yellow softened by pea green is being shown at the CALIFORNIA PATIO POTTERY, 414 W. Fourth, this week. A service for six in Padre Pottery—$7.50.

DID YOU KNOW—

THAT hard cakes, instead of rice and old shoes, are thrown at bridal couples in Bavaria—as an omen of prosperity? That the baking industry employs over 200,000 wage earners, with a payroll of approximately $250,000,000 annually? And that EATON'S BAKERY, Grand Central Market, has the best cookies in town?

HATS—BY EL MARIE

IS ANYTHING so flattering as black velvet? I have in mind a cocktail turban, slit in the crown—Bronze and silver ostrich tips and a saucy froth of dotted veiling. For greater dignity and that irresistible air of mystery—a wide veil over a high-in-front afternoon velvet. EL MARIE, Arcade Bldg.

TO GET BACK TO GARDENING

IT'S TIME to start preparing your flower beds for annuals. Not being an expert in the line, myself, I took the matter up with Mr. Blanding of the BLANDING NURSERIES, at 1348 S. Main. You dyed in the soil gardeners probably know what I didn't—that right now is the time to get in your Stocks, Calceolarias, Godolias, Sweet Peas and bulbs, following them with your Jonquils. The BLANDING NURSERY for the finest seeds and bulbs.

1847—1937

A LOVELY young bride, shy and demure in her billowing skirts of stiff white silk, hair carefully brushed and coiled over her ears. Cheeks flushed with the excitement of her wedding day—and with the thrill of owning a chest of Rogers silver plate, a new, gleaming, silver first created by Rogers designers. That was in 1847, ninety years ago. Tomorrow another bride will thrill in the same way—to the ownership of a treasure chest of the newest Rogers pattern. A 1937 bride, this time—sleek and streamlined in her ivory satin, a hidden vitality and an eagerness for life replacing the timid shyness of her great grandmother. And reflecting her mood, the 1937 Rogers pattern, "First Love," as breathlessly exciting a name, yet with a certain sophisticatedness in its simple elegance. Worthy of Rogers' 90th Anniversary Celebration. H. R. TROTT, Fifth and Sycamore.

NO PLACE FOR LAGGARDS

YOU CAN'T remain a Fall shopping laggard at the Fall showing at RONSHOLD'S. One glance around and you're in up to your ears! Such excitement in fabric and fur! Velvet, you know, is going to dominate the season. Mr. Ronshold, "Vogue," has gathered together a collection of velvets an Empress might envy. Black, non-crushable suits, rich with luxurious fur collars. Velvet dresses, crusted with pearls. A Lustre-tweed coat, zipped to a glove-fit. Nubby tweed coats and man-tailored suits. Two-piece light-weight woools after "Vogue." Military black alpaca. Santora bldg., second floor.

DISPLAY OF FALL HAND-KNITS

THE NEWEST in Fall hand-knit models—knits for every mood, from the "Fairway" to the formal femininity of "Cocktails for Two." All fashioned from those versatile Buccia yarns. The showing will be at the WORK BASKET, 411 N. Broadway, September 20 to 24. You are invited to come and bring a friend. As many as you like. Don't miss it—the advance photographs are knockout! You'll go into tailspins over the new yarns—tweed mixtures that smell of heather, downy angoras in delicious new shades, interesting wool and rayon combinations. Colors!

FALL FASHION AT DOROTHY'S

UTE and deliciously casual—the new light weight woools at DOROTHY'S. Many of them smack of old Scotland with their gay plaid skirts and collars. One dress is plaid all over—in rustic green and brown, while others have plaid touches—in pockets or pleats. $5.95—$7.95. Find of the week: Real man-tailored suits at $10.95 to $16.95! Grand Central Market.

FASHION CHATTER

The time has come, the walrus said—to speak of being beautiful. Though the weather gives no indication of it, summer's officially over—the vacation part of it, anyway. It's been fun to let yourself go, but now for a bit of jacking up—Complexion—how does it look after the sun and wind? If it's dried out and etched with tiny crow's feet, get busy with the old night cream. There's a line of Avocado creams, not nationally publicized, that puts up a small bottle of pure avocado oil—the most effective prescript for dry skin I've been able to find. It makes your face feel like a gardenia petal. A few blackheads here and there? Soap and water, and a thorough scrubbing with a soft face brush. Follow with a splash of cold water, thorough creaming and a good skin tonic.

MISS ELAINE FASHION

HAIR—It's been said for years, but it's still as effective as ever—break out the old hair brush! Follow a quick, vigorous brushing with a good hair tonic, applied with a piece of saturated cotton. Don't be afraid of the wave.

Eyes—Bathe every night with alternating hot and cold water, finishing up with cold. If they feel tired, practice making eyes at your best beauty. Nails—Do grab off those ten seconds to rub a little cuticle cream on them as you hop into bed. Such a little thing to make so much difference. Fresh-up—For a quick and lasting fresher-upper on hot days, nothing can beat good old fashioned toilet water, in new fashioned scents.

HOOKED RUGS

RUGS and hangings, "next to the background," are the most important things in any room," according to Frank A. Parsons' INTERIOR DECORATION. "Build from the bottom up" is a sound principle in every creative effort—too often overlooked in the construction of a room. There is a tendency to think of a rug as just something to walk on, and we spend half the time in selecting it that we spend in choosing a chair. Yet, a room minus a rug is not fundamentally altered, whereas a room without a carpet has been robbed of its soul.

This column has discussed, through the courtesy of IRA CHANDLER & SON, rugs and the fine Broadloom carpeting for traditional homes, moderately large in size. The other day I asked Mr. Himpard, decorator for CHANDLER'S, what about rugs for the smaller cottage and provincial type home? And for the more stringent budget some of us must contend with? His answer to the first question was: Hooked rugs made in China. The low cost of labor in the Orient permits "budget" prices. Traditional American hooked patterns have been introduced in China, where, under American supervision, they are made by a people long famed for rug making. Exquisite, therefore, in color and workmanship.

Ideal bedroom and incidental rugs for any house, hooked rugs are, of course, the requirement throughout for an Early American interior—a colorful and informal complement to maple furniture and grandma's patchwork quilt. An exceptionally large and varied selection of hooked rugs is being shown at IRA CHANDLER & SON, Third and Main. The best of the old designs with some of the new. Both oval and rectangular in shape, sizes ranging from the smallest "scatter" to a full 8-12. Drop in and see them just for your own enjoyment.

DIAMOND TALKS BY A. L. McEVROY

THE FIREY brilliancy of your diamond depends to a large extent on its proper cutting, or "make." It took many years of experimenting for the cutters to discover the cutting of surfaces or facets which would bring 100% efficiency. A diamond, properly cut, is one of the most brilliant reflectors of surrounding light. Its ability to reflect rays of light from one facet to another makes continuous, dazzling reflection in the stone. A stone very heavy on top will have but 75% of maximum brilliancy, while a shallow or spread stone has but 50%. You will find at McEvroy's Jewel Box, 116 1/2 E. 4th St., gems with 100% brilliancy. Prices reasonable—Terms extended to responsible folks.

DESIGN FOR EATING

DINNER at Home tonight, as Mother would cook it. But no hot stove beforehand, no dishes afterwards. HOME CAFE, 304 N. Broadway, has satisfied Santa Ana appetites for 15 years.

FASHION FLASHES IN FORMALS

SILHOUETTE—Pencil slim, with one or two slits for freedom—often with Directoire high waist and lofty head-dress. Or the bouffant skirts and off-shoulder decollete of Louis XV inspiration.

DETAILS AND TRIMS—Un-even hemlines. Note of elegance in color and fabric combinations, as well as in jewels. Sequins, particularly on cocktail tea gowns. Sparkling decollete of rhinestones and sapphires.

EVENING WRAPS—Full length. PREVAILING STYLE—That of 1900. With more sophistication and less frumpiness. SCOLLERS, 312 N. Sycamore.

PERSONALIZED FLOORS

SOMETHING different—it's what we're all looking for. We want our apparel and our house to express our own personality. So we have our gowns custom made—and our floors "personalized" with Inlaid Linoleum. The new "personalized" floors are, to my mind, the greatest excitement in recent decoration development. Imagine the fun of designing your own floor in your own color scheme. Of having your favorite deck games inlaid in the "rumpus" room, and dogs or rabbits parading across the nursery! HAMMOND BROS. 'Don't Forget the Little Fellows,' Cry Villanova Gridmen

"Don't forget the little fellows," say these four coveting Villanova gridsters who recall the upsets staged by small teams last year as they start practice for the current season. Their own record last year was a good one, they point to Duquesne and other small colleges whose elevens last season bowled over favorites in the big-time. Provided 30 students are interested at a nominal fare of $10, Harry Jackson of the Santa Ana Jaycee faculty will escort — by bus — a delegation of Don rooters to their football game with the Stanford Frosh at Palo Alto next week.

The trip would include a sight-seeing tour of the bridges and other San Francisco scenery. . . . Other Dons are planning on taking private cars. . . . There may be as many as 100 Santa Anans at the game.

Ernest (Sir Reginald) Butterworth, the Canadian rugby expert who landed a post as assistant football instructor at Loyola college, will be an interested spectator at tomorrow night's Don-Pasadena, J. C. game at the Bowl. . . . In Bill Cook's lineup will be a few Dons whom Butterworth coached to a rugby championship here the past season—Ed Stanley, Danny Boyd, Dick Tauber, Russell Roquet, Bill Semmacher and Pete Kotlar, among others.

Night football, it seems, is still a pleasant dream at Santa Ana High school, but it is doubtful whether the board of education will consent. . . . The injury risk is too great for the school to permit its 15, 16 and 17-year old students to travel — by night — for Citrus Belt league games as far away as Riverside and San Bernardino. . . . No harm perhaps could be done, however, in permitting the Saints to arrange after-dinner contests at the Municipal bowl with nearby rivals like Huntington Beach, Orange and Fullerton.

Coach Bill Foote, while not opposed to night football, personally prefers the Friday afternoon set-up, as does Assistant Joe Koegler, for three reasons: (1) The student body is at school on Fridays, and a larger turnout is assured; (2) games do not interfere with the jobs of players who work in markets on Saturdays; and (3) football fans have an opportunity to see the Pacific Coast conference games at the Coliseum on Saturday.

Bottom of the barrel: The name of Sophomore Marshall Goldberg, Rose Bowl winner, was omitted from the 1937 football roster of the University of Pittsburgh sent to sports editors, and was the face of the athletic news director red! . . . San Bernardino, marking time in the Shaughnessy nightball finals until completion of the Huntington Beach-Anaheim series Friday night, is trying to book an exhibition with Alhambra, winner of The Examiner's Southern California amateur tournament in Los Angeles. . . . When picking centerfielders, it's difficult to choose between the rapidly-rising Floyd Montgomery of Anaheim and veteran Orville Schuchardt of Huntington Beach. . . . Unless my memory fails me, the Ollers' slugging Louie Neva has never knocked a home run of "String" McDonnell, and their rivalry dates back several seasons.

Cougars Bemoan Goddard's Loss

By JIM HUTCHESON

PULLMAN, Wash. (AP)—While gridiron fans bemoan the passing of the all-star star, Ed Goddard, Coach Orin (Babe) Hollingbery is confidently tuning up a 1937 Washington State college football machine of veterans.

Hollingbery lost 12 lettermen by graduation from the team which landed in the Pacific Coast conference runner-up spot last year. The dozen was topped by Goddard, who carried the ball on nearly two out of three Cougar plays for three years—and counted his yardage in furlongs. Three more lettermen were counted out this fall by illness or injury.

But with 18 lettermen as a nucleus in a 43-man squad, Hollingbery is conjuring up football poison again out there on Rogers field. He is starting his 12th year at the Washington State helm with a record of having had only one team finish out of the first division.

Hollingbery expects to turn loose a team in the opening "revenge" game against Gonzaga with a versatile offense and emphasis on the open style of play. Eddie Ezyne, a jackrabbit runner from Billings, Mont., is being groomed for Goddard's ball-toting shoes. He is a punter and good passer.

Carl Littlefield, a powerful off-tackle smasher, has the full-back job clinched. The other starting halfback will be either Joe Angelo or Hal Smith, lettermen.

A promising group of freshmen and a line that will be two deep with lettermen except at center and guards will be other favorable Cougar factors. Bob Campbell, one of the coast's best guards, was marked off the list because of injuries.

Center will be protected by Chris Rumberg, capable and experienced brother of the professional heavyweight wrestler.

Other probable line starters: Tackles—Bob Grimstead, 213, and George Hubert, 194; ends—John Klumb, 188, and Hal Harrison, 185; guards—Al Hoptowit, 195, and Chuck Semanick, 191.
The schedule: Sept. 25, Gonzaga at Spokane; Oct. 2, Idaho at Pullman; Oct. 9, California at Berkeley; Oct. 16, Washington at Pullman; Oct. 23, U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles; Oct. 30, Southern California at Pullman; Nov. 6, Oregon at Portland; Nov. 13, Stanford at Palo Alto; Nov. 20, Oregon State at Corvallis.

RESERVES HOLD U.S.C. VARSITY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Trojans of University of Southern California came back to practice today a little worn from yesterday's hard "little game" on Bovard Field.

Aside from a few bruised shins and noses, Coach Howard Jones' pupils emerged from the fray without mishap.
The main damage occurred to the varsity spirit. The "Red-shirts" lined up against the third-string "Whites." They failed to score and were lucky not to have been scored against as the rookies stopped Quarterback Amby Schindler's thrusts and offered one just as potent in Granny Lansfield.

San Diego, L. B. Poly Send Stars to U. S. C. Freshmen

LOS ANGELES.—University of Southern California's freshman football squad of 40 is one of the smallest Trobabe aggregations in the past 10 years, but a generous sprinkling of former prep school aces assures U. S. C. of a yearling team that will likely produce its full share of future varsity prospects.

To the nucleus of 12 freshmen who entered Southern California last February have been added 28 new men since practice opened last week, and Coach Julius Besenbacher believes that three well-rounded elevens can be developed from the group for the coming season.

Heading good backfield material among the newcomers is Bob Berryman, triple threat backfield star of Long Beach High school's

HAAN'S NINE AUTOMOTIVE LOOP CHAMP

O. R. Haan's softball nine was installed as champion of the Santa Ana Automotive league today, after whipping Hockaday-Phillips' club, 17-8, last night for the second-half title. The first-round also went to the Haan's powerful outfit.

Seven runs were accounted for by three round-trip bloopers by Ed Thiery and Solon Beall. Jack Stone and LeRoy Gerner walloped one each on one aboard, and Art Charleton sent a booming one out with two on the bags.

Nine runs in the first three frames provided the winning margin for Pitcher Gerner, who whiffed eight batters while limiting the losers to but eight bingles. Twenty hits were registered by the Haan batters.

DEFOE FIGHTS ARMSTRONG

NEW YORK. (AP)—Henry Armstrong, the brown buzz-saw from Los Angeles, gets his third shot at an old rival tonight in Madison Square Garden, when he meets Johnny DeFoe, of New York, in a 10-round bout.

DeFoe and Henry have met in two other bouts with Armstrong winning both times. DeFoe was leading in the second bout at Butte, Mont., when Armstrong opened a cut over an eye late in the bout. The Los Angeles negro is favored to make it three in a row.

The fight will be the last staged by the Garden and its promoter, James J. Johnston, who quits Oct. 1 to run his 30th Century Sporting club, while Mike Jacobs moves in.

MRS. HOOVEN GOLF WINNER

Mrs. P. A. Hooven, with a card of 49-12-37, walked off with first place honors in Willowick's blind-pine-leaf golf competition at the club yesterday.

Runners-up were Mrs. Sidney Harris, 49-11-38, and Mrs. Ludy Schaffer, 48-10-38, who tied for second.

TWO HELENS AND BUDGE TO COMPETE

Philadelphia Club
Considered for
Davis Cup in '38

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The smaller guns of tennis began firing away today as qualifying rounds began in the annual Pacific Southwest tournament at the Los Angeles Tennis club.

Non-seeded players, numbering nearly 300, go through their paces today and tomorrow, with the tournament "name players," headed by J. Donald Budge of California and Senorita Anita Lizana of Chile, national champions, swinging into formal play Sunday.

Several notables were on the scene today. Of major interest were Mrs. Helen Wills Moody and her neighbor-California foe, Miss Helen Jacobs.

Mrs. Moody, embarking on a "comeback" which she hopes will carry her back to the faded she won at Forest Hills and Wimbledon next year, entered the mixed doubles, with Baron Gottfried Von Cramm as partner.

Miss Jacobs entered all three divisions.

With three exceptions, virtually all the field which competed at the recent national tournament are entered in the Pacific Southwest. Bryan Grant and Frankie Parker of the United States Davis cup squad and young Bobby Riggs of Los Angeles were the trio.

PHILADELPHIA SCENE OF 1938 DAVIS CUP

NEW YORK. (AP)—The Davis cup will return to the courts it left for a 10-year sojourn abroad, if the recommendation of the Davis cup committee to hold next year's challenge round at the Germantown Cricket club is accepted by the U. S. L. T. A.

The selection of the Philadelphia club will be offered for ratification at the U. S. L. T. A.'s annual meeting in Miami, Jan. 14. It was at Germantown that France's great team of Henri Cochet, Jean Borotra, Rene Lacoste and Jacques Brugnon beat Bill Tilden and the Americans to lift the trophy in 1927.

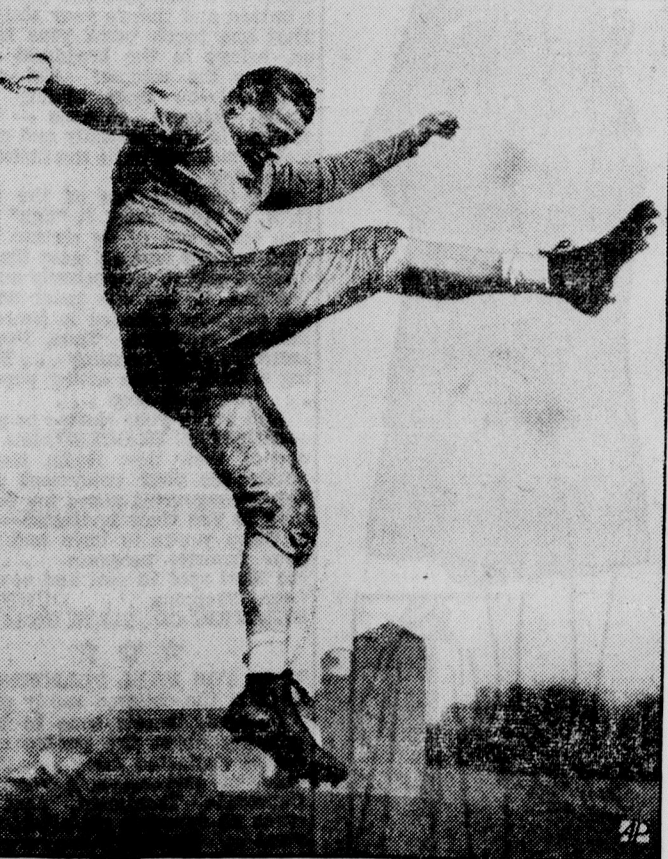

Held over Labor day week-end next September with J. Donald Budge and Co. on hand to defend the trophy, the matches will vie with the national championships, scheduled as usual for Forest Hills. Foreign competition should be strong in both events. Germany, Australia and Japan all hope to compete in the North American zone cup play.

Extensive improvements will be made on the Germantown plant if the U. S. L. T. A. accepts the cup committee's suggestion.

U.C.L.A. DRILLS IN ROSE BOWL

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Head Coach William H. Spaulding will take his squad of University of California at Los Angeles football players to Pasadena tonight to practice in the Rose Bowl.

Spaulding made it plain the trip was not to acquaint his lads with the Bowl for possible New Year's day use, but merely to let them scrimmage under the flood lights in preparation for their first night game Sept. 24 against Oregon.

Out in front of the parade of collegiate football stars marching back to gridirons throughout the nation is Minnesota's Andy Uram, a triple-threat back whose team has been rated No. 1 by most of the nation's sports authorities for the past three years.

ENDEAVOUR IS LOST IN GALE

BOSTON. (AP)—Two crack coast guard cutters, the Cayuga and Chelan, today sped to a spot 200 miles east of Nantucket in search of Endeavour I, English racing yacht, which parted from her convey's towline in a gale Monday night. The yacht was en route to England.

Endeavour's plight was made known yesterday when the coast guard was notified by T. O. M. Sopwith's power yacht Pilot, which is towing Endeavour II, defeated America's cup challenger, home to England.

BEAVERS OUST ANGELS FROM FOURTH SPOT

Seattle's Home Run
In 16th Humbles
Leading Solons, 6-4

By the Associated Press
A determined Portland baseball team moved into the first division of the Pacific Coast league today as rebellious underdogs made things unpleasant for the leaders and caused three changes in the standings.

Portland with a collection of four runs in the first inning went on to take its second straight from the wobbly Oakland A's, 8 to 6. Seattle, with the aid of a timely home run with one on in the last of the 18th, defeated the league-leading Sacramento club, 6 to 4. It was Seattle's second victory over the Senators in as many days.

San Francisco took definite hold of second place when Ted Norbert's home run with two on the bags helped defeat Los Angeles, 7 to 2. The loss dropped the Angels half a game behind Portland. San Diego dropped into third place when the bedraggled San Francisco Mission Reds with the aid of a rookie slug defeated them for the second straight time, 6 to 3.

Sailor Bill Poesdel, one of the Beavers' most reliable hurlers, was credited with his 20th victory last night. Little Dudley Lee, Beaver shortstop nailed three of their 10 hits when he connected three times out of five. Walt Judnich of the Oaks hit a homer.

The Seattle-Sacramento marathon was one of the most spectacular games played in the Coast league this season and had a typical movie finish.

Bill Shores of the Seals checked the Angels with only four hits while his teammates garnered 12 off the slants of Ray Prim. One of the Angels' four hits was a homer by Rip Collins.

Joe Annunzio, a young catcher who served at Tucson during the summer, but subbing for the Missions' Max West at first base, drove in three of the Mission runs. His first time up he hit a ball high up on the left field fence for a two-bagger to score Steve Barnhart who had doubled just ahead of him. The next time up Annunzio smashed a long fly to right field which enabled Harry Rosenberg to score after the catch. In the eighth with the score tied three-all Rosenberg drew a walk, Lou Almada tripled to score Rosenberg and Almada came home when Annunzio hit another two-bagger.

Texans Arrive for Game With Dons In Frisco Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The "Rattlers" of St. Mary's of San Antonio, Tex., were due in town today for their football game Sunday with University of San Francisco, the West coast's season opener.

The Texans left Los Angeles by bus yesterday after a brisk workout.

Coach George Malley put his U. S. F. Dons through their last scrimmage yesterday, and planned dummy scrimmage the rest of the week to polish up on blocking and ball-carrying.

There is some evidence, though not conclusive, that camels once lived wild in America.

Spectator's role is a familiar part to fiery Burleigh Grimes, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose flare for argument has brought many suspensions in his brief term.

LEHMAN STAR DISMASTED IN 1ST RACE

Newport Harbor's lone entry, Pasha, got off to an inauspicious start in the 15th annual star-class yacht world championships off Port Washington, New York, yesterday.

Ten miles before a 20-mile southerly breeze, that made the water choppy and the going heavy, prevented six yachts, the Pasha among them, from finishing the first race. Pasha was dismasted, and the mishap placed Skipper Myron Lehman 36 points behind the winner, Harold Halsted of Moriches bay off Long Island.

Lehman and 36 other skippers hoped light weather predictions were correct today, as they prepared for the second race of a five-race series will be ended Monday. The weather calls for three straight days of light going. If so, the advantage gained by Halsted and the runner-up, Milton Wegforth of San Diego, will mean little, which with four races remaining.

Harland F. (Hook) Beardslee of Newport, champion in 1934 and '35 with his world-famous By-C, did not qualify for the 1937 series, although he won the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy at Santa Barbara and numerous other races before failing in the qualifying test.

Lehman is a former crew member of Beardslee.

PASADENA TO FACE FOUR FRESHMEN

Seven Lettermen in Opening Lineup for Football Inaugural

There are 14 lettermen from whom Coach Bill Cook can select a starting lineup for tomorrow night's football debut with Pasadena Jaycee, but only seven of them probably will open against the invading Bulldogs at the Municipal bowl, he indicated today.

Four freshmen gridsters—three linemen and a fullback—probably will receive the call for the defending Southern California champion Dons.

Cook's backfield, tested in another two-hour drill at the Sixth and Flower street stadium last night, will find Mac Beall calling the signals at inside halfback. Co-Capt. Ed Stanley will be at right half.

Les McLennan, the Oceanside prep whose drive and consistent ground-gaining have been features of the past few drills, will be one of the four yearlings in the starting lineup. He will play fullback.

Quarterbacking will be handled by Oliver McCarter, a veteran of two years ago. He led a pile-driving attack over the second team to net two touchdowns at the Bowl last night.

Gilbert Baker, negro from Jefferson High in Los Angeles, joined the Dons today. He is a halfback.

Freshmen Ted DeVellis, Anaheim threat, or Letterman Bob Paul will handle left end, with Co-Capt. Erwin Youel a certain start at right end. All three may make life miserable for the Pasadena backs with their passing ability. Bill Semmacher and Carroll Joy are the replacements, with Semmacher in line for a No. 1 position when his wrecked knee mends.

Yearlings Virgil Stevens or Gil Nehrig will be at one tackle, Letterman Russell (Rusty) Roquet at the other. If San Francisco's Bob Gannon doesn't learn his signals better, Coach Cook may be forced to shift Danny Boyd back to center, although he has received new aid from Pancho Forster, San Juan Capistrano's all-county league pivoer, who reported yesterday. Forster probably will not be of much assistance tomorrow night, however.

Letterman Dick Tauber, 200-pounder, will be at standing guard.

LARRY TIMKEN OUT?
Jerry Nesmith of Anaheim and Elmer Casey of Oceanside are seeking the No. 1 spot at center. Among the leading guard prospects are Pete Kot

DANNING PRAISED BY GIANTS

Terry 'Sitting Pretty' With League-Leading Giants

SUB CATCHER GREAT AID TO PITCHERS

Schumacher Checks Pirates, 7-2; N. Y. Leads By 2 1/2 Games

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Around and about in the baseball business today they're saying the luckiest thing that happened to the Giants this year was the injury that put their first-string catcher, Gus Mancuso, in the hospital back in July.

It's funny they should be glad-handing Old Man Jim, as though he were Santa Claus, but if Gus hadn't been laid up with a broken finger the Giants never would have "found" Harry (The Hawk) Danning—who had been warming the Giant bench for only six years.

And if they hadn't come across Harry, sitting there minding his own business, day after day, it is extremely doubtful that the Giants would be up there sporting a 2 1/2 game lead for the National league pennant at this writing.

Harry is the hero of the piece because of the way he has brought the right-handed department of the Giants' pitching staff out of the doldrums, and because he's been waving that big bat of his in rival hurlers' faces until they're scared to death of him.

There he was, season after season, catching a few innings here, taking a cut as a pinch-hitter there, and wearing out the dugout bench and the seat of his pants the rest of the time. Last season there even was talk that he might be let out. But when Mancuso went on the shelf, Danning had to take over. It was either him or the bat boy. And from the moment he put on his mask and pad, the pitching began to look up.

For instance, there were Prince Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert, who had been about as much use as a couple of bats with holes in them. Since Harry began handling them, Schumacher has started nine games, completed seven and won six, while Gumbert has taken half a dozen decisions. Schumacher did it again with Danning yesterday. He turned in a neat nine-inning effort while his mates clubbed the Pirates, 7-2, mates who the Cubs also won their game, taking a 5-2 decision from the Bees behind Curt Davis' six-hitter, the pennant situation remained as is, in this form:

But when he has an off day the wolves give him the works just like they do the pros. . . Pedro Montanez sent his sister, Juane, over to Summit, N. J., yesterday to scout Lou Ambers.

Jack Torrance finally has decided to get out of the business and has come back to pounding a copper's beat in Baton Rouge, La. . . Old Hank Severid, at 46, still is spry enough to do a bit of catching for his Galveston team in the Texas league.

If the Giants get into the World Series, highest paid player will be Ed Madjeski, built-up catcher. . . Ed has caught only nine innings this season. . . But on a basis of $5000 he would collect about $555.55 for his innings' work.

Joe McCarthy avers the Yanks are no better than even money in the World Series, no matter who they meet, and solemnly adds: if we make it.

The Yankees had their American league lead shaved to 9 1/2 games over the Tigers. They split a twin bill with the Cleveland Indians, taking the nightcap, 3-1, with Monte Pearson pitching a four-hitter, while the Tribe came through, 6-4, in the 10-inning opener, although Bob Feller was belted to the showers. The Tigers won their single game with the Senators, 4-3, on the strength of a three-run rally in the ninth.

The White Sox got to Lefty Grove and topped the Red Sox, 5-3. The Athletics took their opener, 8-2, from St. Louis, but dropped the nightcap, 3-1, as Bill Trotter won his first victory of the year.

The Cincinnati Reds routed the Dodgers, 6-0, in their opener, and then dropped the after-piece, 8-5. The Phillies and Cardinals went 13 innings to a 6-all draw before darkness halted the proceedings.

SPORTS Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK. (AP)—News, the Reds already have decided on their 1938 manager, but will not name him until after the World's Series. . . (Don't be surprised if he comes from the minors.)

Chicago's stadium may get a Tommy Farr-John Henry Lewis match this winter.

When the U. S. L. T. A.'s ranking committee sits itself down in December it likely will rate Don Budge, Bobby Riggs, Frankie Parker and Bryan Grant, jr., in that order.

Mrs. James J. Braddock doesn't want her Jim to fight Max Baer Oct. 29 because one of his ears, banged up in the Louis fight, isn't completely mended.

JAPAN TO LOSE WAR, IS PREDICTION

Official Says Soviets To Aid China Cause

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—China will defeat Japan in the undeclared war now raging in the Orient, Dr. Alfred Dip Lum, a United States citizen of Chinese parents, predicted today on his arrival from Shanghai.

Technical expert on foreign affairs for the Chinese Nationalist government, Dr. Lum said "Japan had realized its mistake," three days after the fighting started.

"Twenty thousand of Japan's marines, her best men," he said, "were wiped out in the first four days of fighting. Twenty-five thousand more who arrived Aug. 17 were badly decimated."

"China is equipped with war materials to carry on the war for three years. If China holds out for six months, I believe Russia will enter the war on the Chinese side. But the Japanese are practically defeated right now."

Commenting on the reported allegiance of the Communist army in China to the government cause, Dr. Lum declared the Communist party is now definitely dead.

"The Chinese government has an agreement with the Soviet whereby the Soviets will no longer spread Communist doctrines in China. The so-called Chinese Soviet republic now has been abolished."

Pipes Placed With Ice Chunks

WORCESTER, Mass. (American Wire)—Henry Frongillo, general foreman for a construction company, has discovered a new method of lowering pipelines during street grading operations, but it is too simple to patent.

He simply ordered the heavy conduits set apart instead of using wood blocks. As the ice melted, the pipes settled slowly into place. This method forestalls chances of breaking cables used under the old block and tackle method. A job which ordinarily would take four weeks was finished in nine days using ice.

Scottie Pup Makes Scrap Quilt Gay

PATTERN 5936

Don't feed these Scotties! They're strictly ornamental and particularly successful in the nursery. Make them of colorful scraps, each Scottie a different material with a saucy note of contrast in the bow. You can, of course, use the same material throughout. Sew the 9½-inch blocks together, and you'll have the cheeriest applique quilt you ever saw. In pattern 5936 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Journal, Household Arts Dept., 117 East Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

French Warships Seek 'Pirate' Sub

A stormy passage for pirating Mediterranean submarines was promised when French warships (above) rushed to the east coast of Spain to protect merchant vessels in those waters. Feeling in the area was tense after Russia accused Italian U-boats of sinking her merchantmen without provocation and British officials hinted strongly they too blamed the Fascists.

METAL WORKER MAKES PISTOLS

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP)—A 22 caliber rifle which shoots accurately at a quarter of a mile and a "homemade" .38 caliber pistol which will shoot special bullets through a steel plate one-eighth of an inch thick have been perfected by R. E. Davis of Grand Island, Neb., a skilled metal worker and mechanic by trade, is a gunsmith in his spare time.

He bored the back end from a 22 caliber barrel to fit a special cartridge of that size made from a 30.06 Springfield army rifle bullet. He attached three lenses for a telescope sight.

Now the gun shoots bullets which at 300 yards pierce a one-half inch steel plate. Crows, rabbits and other small game can be shot at distances from 300 to 500 yards. The gun weighs 12 pounds. For his .38 caliber revolver, which Davis constructed from the drive shaft of an automobile and the axle of a truck, he fabricated a bullet with a hollow point which gives the projectile unusual effectiveness.

New Liquor Rules Make Bartenders Dizzy

Cocktail dispensers in Santa Ana today seriously considered affiliating themselves with a firm of smart lawyers or else going out of business.

The hard liquor business has become that complicated, with all the screwy rulings laid down by the state board of equalization. For instance:

Nowadays if somebody serves a solitary prezel with beer, he's breaking the state law.

If a woman or girl mixes a drink she's liable to land in the jailhouse.

DON'T INHALE

Even the person who has children and is married, but still is a minor, is guilty of a misdemeanor if he or she so much as inhales the foam off a stein of cold ale, if he does said inhaling in a public liquor dispensary.

What's more, if you should happen to be observant, you'll see a worried look on the faces of all the local bartenders. They hardly know what to do, what with all the new state laws and the federal regulations.

If a bartender sells a drink to an Indian he will incur the everlasting wrath of Uncle Sam.

How old is a girl? It's pretty hard, these days, with new-fangled hair dresses, clothes and paint for the lips, cheeks, etc., to tell. Yet, if you are a bartender, you are supposed to know.

MINORS GUILTY

There is at least one law the local barkeeps really like. And so do the sellers of beer, wine and liquor who let customers take it home outside them. That is the one that makes it a misdemeanor for anyone to so much as buy a can of beer if he isn't 21 years old. In other words, if he's a minor, he's as guilty as the person that sells liquor. Sort of sharing the responsibility idea, but local liquor dealers think it will help.

It used to be that when a customer bought a glass of beer, the barkeeper had to proffer a sandwich or food of some kind. Then came the days of "rubber" sandwiches, each of which lasted for weeks and weeks. That was the law then, but now it's different. If a barkeep serves a sandwich or a pretzel or popcorn now, and the customer doesn't pay for it, the barkeep may get pinched, because he's breaking the law.

GIRLS BEWARE

And another funny thing. A girl or woman (and who can say which is which) can serve a jigger of whisky and a glass of soda water, which the customer may make into one drink by pouring whisky into soda water. Then, of course, you have a whisky and soda. But if the waitress presumes to put said whisky into said soda water, her boy friend will have to bail her out of jail, if she gets caught.

Of course, there's the sales tax. But heretofore it hasn't entered into the retail liquor selling business. Now it does. And sellers of mixed or bottled drinks must collect it on each drink.

Southern Beetle Infests Pine Forest

WILBURTON, Okla. (AP)—A tiny beetle which feeds only on pine trees and thrives in drought seasons is threatening destruction of 15,000 trees in the Robbers' Cave state park near here.

Officials of the National Park service said more than 1000 trees—some of them over 50 years old—had been removed since the infestation began.

The voracious insect is the southern pine beetle, which is capable of killing pine trees of all ages and all species. It attacks the middle to upper portions of trees and destroys the soft inner bark through which the trees obtain nourishment.

RIDER HURT

Randolph Clark, 12, 120 South Bristol, sustained minor injuries when his bicycle assertedly collided with a car driven by Forrest C. Whitson, 210 South Main street, on Bush street, between First and Second. The accident, which occurred Tuesday, was not reported until yesterday.

8 KILLED IN PERUVIAN AIR CRASH

LIMA, Peru. (AP)—An ambulance crew today gathered up the bodies of eight persons killed when a coastal passenger plane crashed into a hillside 40 miles south of Lima.

The plane, piloted by Stanley Harvey, identified as a native of Illinois and former United States army flier, had battled heavy fogs last night along the western coast of South America en route from Arica, Chile to Lima. It carried seven passengers.

In the list of victims, as issued by the Faucett Airlines, operators of the plane, was Thomas J. Rice, identified as a representative of the Wrigley chewing gum concern, and a man identified as Luis Guillen, former counselor of the Spanish legation at Lima.

Four of the passengers were identified as Peruvians and the

Unsportsmanlike Thief Tosses Loaded Dice

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—George Mechick, an ice cream vendor, told police today it was a thief's lack of good sportsmanship he didn't like.

First, Mechick said, he was shaken down for $5. Then, tickling the vendor's ribs with a knife he demanded they shoot dice—with Mechick's money. After the thief picked up $2 more on two straight passes Mechick said he protested the dice were loaded.

That's when the robber beat him up and fled.

CHEST COMES TO AID OF NEEDY CHILDREN

ALLOT FUNDS
TO HANDLE
S.A. PROGRAMRecommend P.-T. A.
To Be in Charge

Tomorrow noon directors of the Santa Ana Community Chest will take up the problem of feeding hungry school children and providing clothing for those school youngsters who are in need.

The executive committee of the chest will recommend to the directors that the Parent-Teacher association become the eighth member organization of the chest, and that the P.-T. A. take charge of a city-wide program to deal with the underprivileged child problem.

It is planned that the P.-T. A. be allocated a fund from the chest to be used for the underprivileged children. There has been no adequate and systematic method of giving aid, although individual teachers and the P.-T. A. have helped urgent cases.

COMMITTEE IN CHARGE

The plan is to have the fund for the needy children handled through the office of Superintendent of Schools Frank A. Henderson and cases acted upon by special committees. These committees would be comprised of the principal, school nurse, teacher of the child and a member of the P.-T. A. This committee would act in each case, and attempt to meet the need. This need might be food, clothing, eye glasses, etc.

Launching of the program will mark the first time in the history of the city that a concerted effort has been made to aid hungry tots. The Journal first revealed the situation which exists in this city and other communities of the county. Eventually the board of supervisors named a committee headed by Ray Adkins, county superintendent of schools, who then reported that an amazing total of 1225 school children were found who face undernourishment and ill from lack of proper food.

BUDGET REPORT

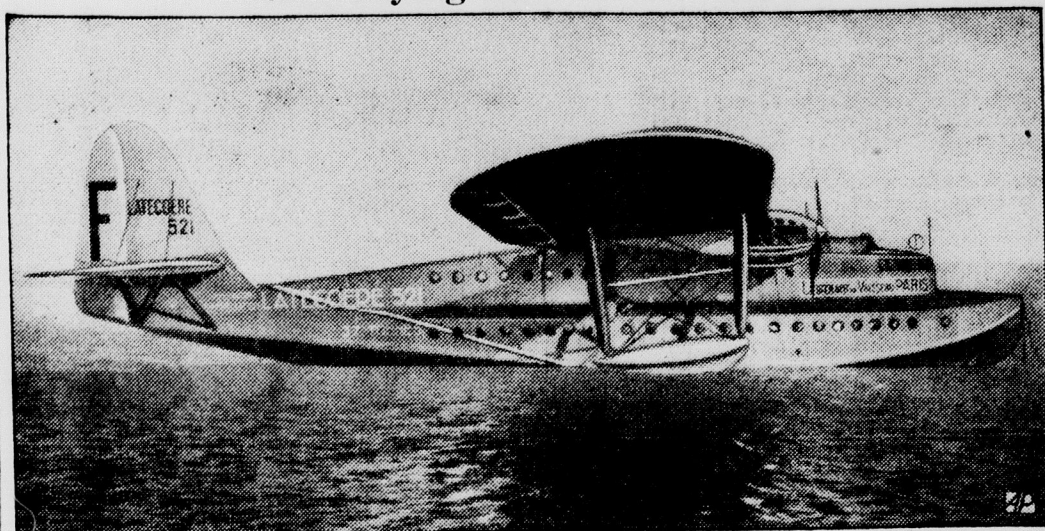

Aside from the underprivileged child problem, the Chest board also will consider budgets of the member organizations. The budget committee has finished its work. It was reported, and will report at the meeting tomorrow.

Member organizations which annually unite to solicit funds are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Veterans Welfare, Ruth Home and Salvation Army. Solicitation is set for early next month. James B. Tucker is president of the chest board. D. G. Tidball is campaign chairman, and A. G. Campbell is campaign director. Tucker has called a meeting of all members of Chest agency boards of directors for Monday noon in the Y. W. C. A. The meeting, which will start with a luncheon, is being held to plan an aggressive program of agency activity to present a united front in the appeal for funds, Tucker said.

$5500 BOTHERS
TITLE COMPANY

After holding a $5500 deposit for the past three years pending a cafe-purchase deal that didn't go through, the Orange County Title company today had asked superior court to do something with the money.

The company filed an injunction suit yesterday against L. J. Detrixhe, former cafe owner here, Walter Atkinson, Ellen B. Atkinson, F. Sam Williams and Ray Goodell, local real estate dealer. The suit asked that the defendants be restrained from attempting to collect the $5500, posted by Detrixhe as a deposit on the purchase of a Santa Monica cafe. The deal, however, was contingent on an orange grove trade between Atkinson and Williams, which was not consummated.

Detrixhe already has sued the title company and his fellow-defendants for return of the money. The title company asks that the court appoint the county clerk or some other person to take charge of the money, and that the defendants be required to sue among themselves to determine title to the deposit.

Garage and Car
Missing, Police
Start Big Search

Next time his wife checks his car at a strange garage, David F. Drake, 1309 1/2 West Fourth street, may insist that she tie a string around her finger—and around the garage, too.

He purchased a car in Sacramento recently and Mrs. Drake started driving it toward Santa Ana. It turned out a bearing in the Stockton area, and Mrs. Drake parked the car on a vacant lot and left the key at the nearby Arena garage.

When Drake went to Stockton to get the car, he could find neither the car nor the garage.

Santa Ana police today sent out a statewide alarm for information leading to the whereabouts of the Arena garage.

'Japan Wages Conquest to Be
Overlord of Orient'

(Editor's Note: The background of the war in China will be explained in a series of three articles, starting today, in The Journal. Newton W. Gilbert, the author, is a former governor general in the Philippine Islands. He is a brother of Guy Gilbert, former president of the Rotary club here, and is familiar with the situation in the Orient, through long experience.)

By NEWTON W. GILBERT

As Told to The Journal

Japan needs to expand, but more than that she wants to be the "overlord of the Orient." The only way she knows to do that is by conquest.

And China, feeling and sentiment, for the first time, has been brought together sufficiently to permit her to put forth more or less united opposition to aggression.

As I see it, these are the main reasons why Japan and China are at war today.

JAPAN'S HOPE
Japan is a very cocky, self-confident nation. She has been ever since the Russo-Japanese war. It is only natural that she should hope to emulate the United States by occupying the same position in the Orient that this country does in relation to the Pan-American nations.

The Japanese apparently thought they could gradually move in on China on a pay-as-you-go conquest basis, and they were girding themselves for a major clash with Russia.

Recently, however, Russia appears to have lost some of her power through internal disorder, and China has been gaining unity and strength. Japan, consequently, figured she had better strike at China again before it was too late, and let Russia go in the hope that continued disorders would further weaken the Soviets.

CHINA REALIZES
China unquestionably is now prepared for a war with Japan now than she would have been a year or two hence. But Chiang Kai Shek's forces are far better prepared than they have been at any time in the past decade.

And Japan pressed the point, so China called her rapidly-gathering forces together to repel the new invasion.

In some ways neither nation is equipped for a long war, but in other ways they both are.

The Rev. Mr. Tucker has been an Orange county resident for the past 28 years. Previous to that time he lived in Idaho along the old Oregon Trail. His father was a pioneer in the cattle business in Wyoming.

"Desolation Pass" is based on actual facts, although fictitious names and locations were used. It is a story of the Wild West with the Northwest country as a background, and is the first long fiction story the local man has written.

DRUNK DRIVERS
GET 'CHANCE'

First offenders whose driving licenses have been suspended for drunk driving, hit-and-run and reckless driving may receive new probationary licenses, according to word received here from Paul Mason, chief of the division of drivers licenses in Sacramento.

A new state law provides that drivers convicted only once on any of the three offenses may apply to the division in Sacramento for probationary licenses which will be good for one year. If there has been no license suspension in this time, a regular license will be issued.

Only first offenders come under the new law, it was pointed out.

Did You Have
Your $50.38?

WASHINGTON, (AP)—If all the money in circulation at the end of August had been divided equally, every person in the United States would have had $50.38.

This per capita figure was contained in a treasury report today showing that money in circulation aggregated $6,524,022,017.

This compared with $6,459,804,383, or $49.92 per capita, on July 31, and $6,226,735,827, or $48.43 per capita on Aug. 31, 1936.

Army's Only Woman Officer
To Retire from Position

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Army's only woman warrant officer—Olivia L. Hoskins of Pasadena—received the presidential consent of President Roosevelt today to retire from duty after 30 years of service.

She will enter the inactive list with monthly pay of $140.

Miss Hoskins at present is on duty at headquarters of the army ninth corps area, San Francisco.

She entered the army in 1907 as a headquarters clerk, a civilian grade. Later she was appointed an army field clerk and became a warrant officer automatically.

The warrant officer's rating is a grade between the enlisted and commissioned ranks, and the work is mostly clerical.

Miss Hoskins' uniform is an olive drab skirt, topped with a semi-regulation blouse on which she wears the insignia of her rank. She is 54 years old.

What To Do—

If Caught in a Severe Lightning Storm

1. If there's a choice of shelter, run for—
A—A large metal or metal frame building—because it's grounded.
B—A building protected by independently grounded lightning rods.
C—A large unprotected building.
D—A small unprotected building.

2. Once inside, keep away from the radio, telephone, overhead wires, electric light circuits, screened doors and windows, if open, stove, fireplace, lightning conductors, downspouts, bath tub.

3. If unavoidably out-of-doors, stay away from isolated trees, wire fences, hill tops, wide open spaces, small sheds in exposed spots. Best bet: Head for thick timber, a cave, depression in the ground, deep valley or canyon, or vicinity of steep cliff.

By the AP Feature Service

Lightning kills about 500 persons a year in the United States and injures an estimated 1300. But actual danger from it is small, says W. H. Cameron, managing director of the National Safety Council in Chicago, except when a person exposes himself to the out-of-doors danger spots listed above. And he usually can avoid these.

Lightning clips nine-tenths of its victims in rural districts; rarely anyone in a modern home or office.

It's a good idea to stay out of swimming pools during a storm. And, contrary to many folks' impression, you're no safer in a car than walking along the ground.

When lightning does strike someone, call a doctor and start immediately the same artificial respiration used on a drowned person.

"Earth fills her lap with pleasures of her own."

—WORDSWORTH.

One of the many miraculous things performed by plant-life is its ability to adapt its parts to its surroundings. If moisture or plant food is more abundant at one place than at another, the root system will tend to grow into the more desired materials. How is it possible for the plant to know where to send its roots?

The same thing is true of the top of a tree. The leaf system is very sensitive to light and it immediately responds to a changing of position. The stems point straight toward the light and the roots set their faces directly across the light. Roots turn directly away from the light.

With an even balance of fertilizer and moisture in the soil the root system will spread out evenly to about the outer margin of the leaves. In like manner, an even distribution of light will cause the plant to grow an erect and well-balanced head.

Mary Stoddard Young Woman Believes She Has Killed Couple's Chances for Happiness

Sometimes as I read the dozen and one varieties of letters which find their way to my desk I am tempted to think that babies have more sense than a lot of grown-ups.

When a baby puts his hand on the stove and gets burned he does not do it again. When a young woman "falls" for a married man and gets her social wings scorched, she seldom struts back to a safe distance and makes an effort to repair her "wings."

"The morning mail brings another problem of this nature. It has been discussed many times before, but every girl who finds herself in this predicament thinks her "case a bit different."

Dear Miss Stoddard: This may be just bringing up an old problem, but I hope you will print my letter and ask for your readers' opinions as I feel my case is a bit different.

I have fallen in love with a married man and it all happened so suddenly before we even realized it. Our first date was just in fun. Jack and I didn't realize we could be anything but friends.

I knew I should have stopped seeing him, but I couldn't. Our small town talked and found it hard to believe "the nicest girl in town" was guilty of trying to steal another woman's husband. But town gossip didn't stop us.

I loved him and still do, terribly. I am 21 and he is 24. They have two children. Both were very young when they were married. She isn't a fine wife and she isn't attractive. She smokes, drinks and any mother or young girl, either who does those is not decent, at least not to me.

We have been tempted to run away together, but both know it would mean shame and disgrace, and thoughts of his two young sons help keep our thoughts sane. It would not be right for me to take him away from the two sons he adores. It was several months before we began to realize we couldn't go on like we were. It took a lot of strength and courage and caused a lot of tears and heartaches, but we parted.

It has been almost a year now. I see him often, just passing on the street. I know and everyone knows he isn't happy. He seems to have aged years. I can see his eyes light when he sees me. My knees almost give way from under me and my heart chokes in my throat. I will always believe he loved me as much as I did him.

In time we will both be cured, but I shall never forget and in time I hope I shall meet some young man who is as fine and good as he.

I know I should never be anything more than a friend, but then I don't regret having fallen in love with a man like Jack.

I didn't wreck their home completely, but I've ruined their chance for any real happiness and that is almost as bad, isn't it? Sincerely, "CURLY."

Did you write this letter to give vent to your maudlin sentiment, "Curly," or do you really want some constructive advice? You point a finger of scorn at the wife and mother whom you attempted to cheat, and just who do you figure you are that you have this right? Do you remember any of your Bible, or do you read it? "Let he who is without sin cast the first stone."

There is only one query in your letter and that is the one you close your sad story with, so I'll answer that. No, I do not think you have ruined these parents' chance for any real happiness. I think they have a better opportunity than ever to make a happy home and rear their two sons properly. You lost, but you cannot even realize it because you are so infected with ego. Destroy that ego germ and your knees will give way under you and your heart choke in your throat, but not for the same reason they do now. You'll feel like running away for a different rea-

Sigma Thetas Hear News Of Troth

That ever-exciting occurrence of "passing the chocolates" was the means by which Miss Roberta McKnight announced her engagement to John Overton last evening, for at the conclusion of a business meeting of her sorority, Sigma Theta, a uniformed messenger boy arrived bearing a large bonbon box, and one smaller, which proved to contain a beautiful diamond ring.

In the ensuing conversation, which accompanied bridge, it was learned that the popular young couple plan a winter wedding. Miss McKnight is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. McKnight, and the groom-elect is the son of the E. C. Overton.

Present at last night's affair, which was held at the McKnight home, were Miss Valerie Demetriou, Miss Lois Murray, Miss Betty Wiswall, Miss Loretta Spangler, Miss Dorothy Van Deusen, Miss Ruth Baker, Mrs. Van Pomeroy, Mrs. William Jerome Jr., Mrs. Ray Cartwright, and two guests of the sorority, Miss Betty Adams and Miss Grace Glazier.

TWO PARTIES CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY

Two very informal little parties last night and this afternoon made little Donald David Steffensen's fourth birthday a very happy occasion for him.

Last night, two families who were formerly neighbors of the Steffensens, were their guests at a picnic supper in the Orange park. At the close of the dinner, a birthday cake was presented to Donald David.

Present for the picnic supper were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wiesseman and daughter Jeanne of Whittier, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raitt of Placentia and sons Thomas and Ralph, Mr. and Mrs. Steffensen and sons Donald Davis and James Leslie.

This afternoon the birthday celebration was to be held at the home of his little neighborhood playmates at a party with ice cream and birthday cake at his parent's home, 921 North Lowell street.

Bronchitis Develops Easily

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

Indian summer, intermingled with cold wet days, increases the tendency to general colds, influenza attacks and acute coryza. These are all forerunners of the extension of infection from influenza bacilli, streptococci and pneumococci down into the tubes and this results in acute bronchitis.

These nose, head and throat colds extend down into the wind-pipe, causing hoarseness and a hacking cough, followed by extension into the bronchial tubes. The inner lining of mucous membranes of the tubes becomes swollen, dry and burning. This is followed by congestion and loosening up of the secretions just as in acute catarrh of the nose, with a consequent coughing and expectoration, which is at first simply mucus and later becomes mucopurulent.

If it extends down into the smaller bronchial tubes, which it frequently does in young children and old folks, broncho-pneumonia may develop into a much more serious condition. Sometimes it starts out with high fever and extreme prostration suggesting broncho-pneumonia, but in this case we have difficult breathing, blue lips and face and the signs of consolidation.

Rest in bed is the best treatment for acute bronchitis. It should be a continued rest till the fever, chest tightness and pain all disappear. In the beginning, a laxative followed by a hot foot bath, a glass of hot lemonade, a warm mustard bath followed with bed rest between blankets will produce free perspiration and relieve the congestion and tightness in the chest.

When there is much tightness in the chest and a hoarse dry cough, medicated vapors are of great assistance. A teaspoonful of compound tincture of benzoin and a little camphor added to a pint of boiling water and allowed to vaporize in the room often gives relief. Later stimulating expectorants such as a chloride of ammonia and licorice are helpful.

MARKEL FETED BY FAMILY GATHERING

RETURNS FROM MISS'S CRUISE

Miss Eugenia Gilbert has returned from a delightful month's cruise through the Panama Canal to Havana and New York City, in company with Miss Amanda Newman and Miss Margaret Russell of Fullerton. They made the return trip across country by motor.

Among the interesting highlights of the trip were a visit in Mexico City and Acapulco, Mexico, being met at the New York pier by Mary Helen Bell McWethy, former Santa Ana, taking in several of the New York plays, and a visit to the Havana orphanage by Miss Gilbert, who is intensely interested in social and welfare work.

DIVORCEE'S DAUGHTER

By VIVIAN RADCLIFFE

(Copyright, 1937, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Janice Flag is the young, attractive daughter of Ogden Flag, Chicago millionaire, but her mother, a Hollywood extra, divorced from Flag, has taught Janice to hate him. After her mother's death by suicide, Janice spurns an invitation to live with her father and her sister, Ivonne. She also spurns an offer of marriage from elderly Lawrence Worthington. She starts for New York to make her own way.

During a stop-over in Chicago, Ill., she meets and falls in love with Peter Hathaway, young assistant professor, who does not like modern girls. Janice goes on to New York and obtains a position as social secretary with Mrs. Greene, a friend of her mother's.

CHAPTER X

CAN love that a girl keeps locked in the secret places of her heart transmit itself to the object of her affections? Janice anxiously asked herself that question. That seemed to be just what was happening.

Widie Greene had begun to notice her, to say little things that brought up happy memories. As when he looked up from a book, through a haze of cigarette smoke, and exclaimed, "Hello, Beautiful!" Janice blushed. What girl wouldn't?

Widie hastened to add, "You know, you weren't much as a kid, but a few years have certainly done wonders to you!"

"Thanks," she managed to murmur, despite the inner turmoil.

"Of course, you'll never be as beautiful as your mother, or Ivonne. But," he studied her until the color deepened into a dark red on her face and throat—"but darned if I don't prefer your beauty to theirs. Yours comes from within."

Again he paused, her embarrassment stopping him.

"Have I hurt you?" he demanded quickly. "I wouldn't for the world, you know."

"No, you haven't hurt me. It's just—just a little bewildering to be so frankly dissectioned to my face."

She laughed tremulously, and sat down in a near-by chair, clasping her hands in her lap like a young sister. "Go on."

"Oh, now, that's no fair!"

BUT he went on, explaining that he thought she had a lot of spirit not to have run back to her father at the moment of her mother's death.

"Ivonne would have," he said. "I'd like to bet you've got your father eating nails. Ivonne is so like her mother that she's caused him much heartache."

"You know Ivonne well?" Janice asked eagerly. Here was a chance to learn about her sister's first-hand.

"Oh, yes. Was madly in love with her a couple of years ago. She couldn't see me for dust. Ivonne is after a title I think. Then again, the way she is playing around with Bradish Braxton makes me wonder if she really knows what she wants. She's a swell girl if she'd ever really find her self."

"Doesn't seem to realize there is something besides fun and excitement and money in this world. I didn't have enough money for her. Brad is simply reeking with it, though rumor has it that your father has put his foot down flat on anything doing in that quarter."

"I wonder how we would get along together?" Janice spoke aloud, not realizing it.

"You and your mother got along swimmingly. She's your mother over again."

Janice smiled. Oh, yes, she and her mother had not got along very well to all appearances, because Janice had allowed her beautiful mother to go her carefree way until suddenly she had to take the reins and gently try to lead Mother into more frugal paths. Then Mother had rebelled. Yet Janice had persisted and, out of that persistence, had grown the secretarial course about which Mother had not known.

"BUT, Janice, you'd love your father. He is so like you. If you'd been a boy, I'd say you should be Ogden Flag, Junior."

That statement made something within the girl swell with pride. The more she heard about her father now, the more she liked him, and the more determined she was to make something of herself, and then to go to him and say frankly, "I want to know you, now that I'm standing on my own two feet. It's fair for me to come to your home now."

She could not explain this to Widie, or anyone else. It was just a secret determination within her that could not be shared—anyway, not at this point.

She got up and walked to the window. From the window, looking down twenty stories at the steady stream of traffic in Park Avenue below, she again spoke her thoughts aloud.

"New York is such a busy city. Everybody going somewhere, and most of them not even taking time to have a little fun."

Widie rose and joined her at the window. Their shoulders touched as they stood there looking down. It was almost noon hour, a busy time in the city. Widie's arm went about her waist, and he leaned forward, urging her to look at the dignified men of money who were going into a club at the corner.

"Old codgers going to talk over the affairs of the nation—the world—even during their luncheon. Your father belongs to that club and often lunches there."

"My father isn't an old codger!" Janice protested.

"I didn't say he was," Widie hastily explained. "I only spoke long and quickly bent his head until his lips hovered over hers. She knew she should not let him kiss her, but that secret place in her heart held the wish that he would."

His lips met hers, at first lightly, then with a hardness that showed he had often kissed girls and knew the language of lips. All the years of schoolgirl admiration for Widie were in her response. The kiss lingered on until she broke from him, emitting a breathless gasp, and looked up into his face with startled dark blue eyes.

"I believe you love me," Widie exclaimed in a low, surprised voice as though the knowledge was very startling and entirely unexpected.

She swung away from him hastily crossing the room, pausing at the doorway in her flight to hear his words.

"Janice, tell me, am I the first man you've kissed?"

She did not answer, but her flying feet carrying her out of the room and down the hall told him that his guess had been true. Janice had never kissed a man before!

Widie stood at the window for a long time, his thoughts suddenly sobered. He hadn't met a girl like Janice before. He felt a great pride in the knowledge that such a girl loved him.

Keep Up On Good Looks At College

By JACQUELINE HUNT

There is an air of excitement in many homes these days with daughters getting ready to go back to school or college. The thrill of shopping for new clothes and cosmetics, and of listening to bits of advice from mothers, aunts and sisters sets young heads buzzing.

"Good looks" is not among the subjects in which you will have to pass entrance exams. But now is the time to brush up on personal habits and your appearance, if you have been careless in the past. The girl who is fresh and pretty, poised and charmingly mannered gets most invitations to sorority "rush" parties and is most popular among other girls and men.

See that you have practical but neatly fitted clothes in your school wardrobe. If you have allowed your figure to slump, or if it is gangling and ungainly, consult the physical director the first day and follow the exercises, or courses she recommends.

Procure a becoming haircut and a permanent in the ends of your hair, if you need them. A few permanent curls now will make it possible for you to keep your hair neat and pretty until you come home for the Christmas holiday.

Take along a well equipped beauty kit with the simple preparations you will need to keep your skin soft and clear. To help you, representatives from ten colleges have designed a kit that holds all the essentials for good grooming. It contains a cleansing cream (a clean skin is the first requisite for beauty), a face cream to keep your make-up in place and conceal embarrassing blemishes, skin tonic as a fresher, with powder, rouge and a cream to keep your hands soft and holdable even when you go, gloveless, to a football game.

Put in the beans. Cut the remaining salt pork through to the rind in strips and place rind side up on the beans. Leave the rind exposed.

Now mix molasses, sugar, salt, mustard and 1 cup of boiling water. Pour over the beans. Then add more boiling water to cover. Cover the bean pot and bake 6 to 8 hours in a slow oven. Uncover the bean pot during the last hour to permit the rind to brown slightly. Add more water from time to time if it is needed.

BOSTON BROWN BREAD. One cup corn meal; 1 cup whole wheat flour; 1 cup bread flour; 1 cup raisins or nuts; 2 teaspoons soda; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/4 cup New Orleans molasses; 2 cups sour milk.

Mix the dry ingredients. Add to them the molasses and sour milk. This bread may be baked with a bread pan in a slow oven for 1 hour or steamed in a closed mold or baking powder can for 2 hours. Fill the pan or mold only 3/4 full.

Coffee in Lap Now Fun As New Clothing Sheds Liquid

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—Spilling the breakfast coffee in the lap does not even wet clothing treated with a new chemical made from coal and fat, which was exhibited at the American Chemical Society here today.

Straight whiskey is different. It soaks in. But anything made of water runs off like falling on a duck's back. The new chemical is an attempt to find the all-round water "repellent," something which can be used on all fabrics, and that will neither wash out nor be affected by dry cleaning.

The new stuff does all these, said Du Pont chemists who exhibited it. It is a new laboratory product, not ready for the market they said. It has been used on cotton, wool, silk and rayon.

Boston Beans, Brown Bread Popular

By JUDITH WILSON

Never out of season, Boston baked beans and Boston brown bread are a perfect harmony of flavor and taste. You will enjoy serving them often, for luncheon, supper or picnic feast, especially as days grow cooler.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS. One quart pea beans; 3/4 pound fat salt pork; 1 tablespoon salt; 3 tablespoons sugar; 4 tablespoons New Orleans molasses; 1/2 teaspoon mustard.

After the beans have been picked over and washed, cover with cold water and soak overnight. Drain, pour into a large pot, cover with fresh water and heat slowly. Keep the water just below the boiling point. Cook until the skins burst. Drain the beans. Scald the salt pork and scrape the rind. Put a piece of pork about 1/4-inch thick in the bottom of the bean pot.

Put in the beans. Cut the remaining salt pork through to the rind in strips and place rind side up on the beans. Leave the rind exposed.

Now mix molasses, sugar, salt, mustard and 1 cup of boiling water. Pour over the beans. Then add more boiling water to cover. Cover the bean pot and bake 6 to 8 hours in a slow oven. Uncover the bean pot during the last hour to permit the rind to brown slightly. Add more water from time to time if it is needed.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds

—By—
ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—If there's any better way to find out about the up-and-coming star than this, I don't know it: Simply arrange a reunion for him with a lady who knew him when—and sit in on the meeting.

Mrs. Florence Evans, a charming white-haired visitor from Cincinnati, mentioned that a former voice pupil of hers named Miller Everson was in Hollywood. That had me stumped for a moment, but you learn to translate fairly rapidly out here, and I gave her John King, the tall and handsome lad of "The Road Back."

There were affectionate greetings and embraces and a good time was had by all.

SHE GOT A SURPRISE

"You were a little thing, Miller," said Mrs. E. fondly. "How I used to scold you! You couldn't read a note and you didn't seem to care. But you were sweet, Miller, really you were!"

Miller, or John King, owned up to the charge, blushed at the tribute. He does not look delicate now—he's trying to raise his 187 pounds to 190, the better to cover his stalwart 6 feet 3 frame.

"Remember, I thought you were so bad I forbade you to try for that Altvater-Kent audition—and you tried anyway. Bless you!"

Then to me: "I didn't even go to the audition. So I was surprised when Miller telephoned and said to come right over. I went, and was amazed to receive congratulations. 'Congratulations! What for?' I asked. Miller had won!"

Miller Everson came to Hollywood with Ben Bernie's orchestra. HE HEARD A 'NO'

He had a tough time impressing Bernie in the first place. After meeting the old maestro in Cincinnati, the boy followed him to New York.

"Remember me, Mr. Bernie?" he asked. Bernie said: "No." But Miller kept trying, and when Bernie came again to Cincinnati he did remember—and took him on.

In Hollywood he has played in two serials, in "Three Smart Girls," and in "The Road Back." Mrs. Evans said she hoped he'd sing in his next picture. Was he still studying?

"Not lately," he said. "Too busy. My voice has changed, gone deeper. I'm going to start work on it again."

SYPHILIS KNOWN IN EARLY TIMES; SCIENCE FINDS CURE

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series of articles published by the California State Department of Public Health frankly discussing venereal diseases, their prevalence in the state of California and methods of combating the evil. Free literature concerning venereal diseases and sex hygiene may be obtained by writing the bureau of venereal diseases, state department of public health, state building, San Francisco.)

More deadly in the Middle Ages than all the powerful weapons of war was the tiny spiral-shaped germ of syphilis. This germ, called a spirochete, is too small to be seen by the naked eye without the aid of powerful lenses. Yet it has lived and thrived for centuries.

Outside the human body it is weak. It shrivels up and dies quickly when exposed to fresh air, sunshine and drying. But once lodged in the blood stream, it multiplies rapidly and becomes a powerful enemy to dislodge.

ANTEDATED HISTORY
Many persons have asked: "When, where, and how did syphilis originate?" If you know the exact answer to that, you have better information than the greatest of medical historians. For they answer, "We can't say exactly."

Thousands of years ago a Greek shepherd named Syphilus roamed the Aegean hillsides. In a famous poem named for him the disease is described to some extent. Ancient Chinese writings mention symptoms and medicine which indicate that the infection, or a similar one, was known even before the Great Wall was built. Archaeologists delving into the old Inca ruins of Peru announce the finding of bones which bear unmistakable evidences of syphilitic destruction.

BLAME INDIANS
The aggressive are statements that the crusaders, returning from their battles with the Saracens, brought the disease back to Europe. But the more commonly accepted story is that Columbus' sailors contracted the malady from American Indians. After sailing back to Europe they joined the armies of Charles VIII and, fighting in small marauding bands, invaded many different countries, spreading infection as they went.

Many years passed before medical science learned the real cause of the disease and how to cure it. In fact, it is only recently that the tiny spirochete was definitely discovered and its habits learned. Patient research by untiring, devoted scientists has since devised accurate tests to learn whether or not a person is infected; also the medicine by which the disease may be cured. The names of Schaudinn, Wassermann, Ehrlich, and others of these researchers will go down in history's pages as great benefactors of humanity.

EDITORIAL PAGE

Sept. 16, 1937

This newspaper stands for a reunited people, for independence in all things political, and for honest journalism in its news and editorial columns.

Santa Ana Journal

Published daily except Sunday by John P. Scripps Newspapers at 117 E. Fifth Street, Santa Ana, Calif. Braden Finch, editor; E. F. Elstrom, business manager.

Subscription rates: By mail, $7.50 a year; by carrier, 65 cents a month; from newsboys and news stands, 5 cents a copy. Entered as second-class matter May 1, 1935, at the postoffice of Santa Ana, California, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The Grumbling We Do

It is not an uncommon occurrence these days to be in a crowd and hear a great deal of assorted grumbling, criticism and condemnation of President Roosevelt, the New Deal and the greater part of his and its works.

All of which is entirely in accord with the American privilege, custom and temperament.

No good American would want to change the constitutional set-up which makes such freedom of expression permissible and proper. Furthermore, no doubt nine-tenths of the criticism is healthful and, in the long run, helpful.

It occurs to us, however, that it might be well if the critics who vent these strong opinions would remember one fact—and we feel certain it is a fact—namely:

That if Alf M. Landon had been elected president last November, or if Herbert Hoover had, or Frank Knox had, or John D. M. Hamilton had, there probably today would be just as much promiscuous grumbling, criticism and condemnation of his acts as we hear today of Roosevelt's. So, don't attribute too much importance to all you hear.

It isn't so bad that nations nowadays don't declare war when they start to fight. What matters is that they don't declare a truce.

A Champion 'Comes Back'

"Scorchers" were the speed demons of the heyday of bicycling. They sat high on their bicycle seats and reached halfway to the ground for their underslung handlebars.

And so dangerous were these speedsters considered that there were laws against "scorching," and many a fine was paid for going too fast in the Gay Nineties.

Today the City of New York has decreed that after October 1 every bicycle must be equipped with adequate brakes and steering mechanism; must have reflectors, yellow in front and red behind; must display at night a lighted lamp of yellow or white ray, visible for 500 feet; must be fitted with horn or other aural signaling device, and, above all, must obey all safety rules governing traffic.

Yes, the bicycle, a "champion" of an earlier era, is bidding again for its place in the sun, is staging a comeback.

And in the meantime cities, counties, states and the entire American commonwealth must figure out a new technique for traffic, to the end that bicycling—which is a fine pastime and a practical means of transportation—may flourish and live long in the land.

Who'd have thought a couple of years ago that Ethiopia would turn out to be the most peaceful spot on the face of the globe?

Third Term? No!

Knowing America, Mr. Roosevelt knows that this nation does not want and would not tolerate a feuerher or a duce, nor a self-perpetuating regime.

His background and his traditions being what they are, it is inconceivable that Mr. Roosevelt would seek or desire a third term. But until he says so his political foes are at a most serious disadvantage, not knowing whether to aim their shafts at him alone or broadcast them over the entire field of possible candidates.

Now Mr. Roosevelt can and assuredly will pick the man who is given the indorsement of the next Democratic national convention, as its presidential nominee. That is all according to Hoyle, whether his political adversaries can take it or like it or not.

But as to a third term for any president of the United States of America, that question is answered before it is asked. The people of America have written the answer. It is NO.

The business of being a king is still a good one, a current journal reports. It is hardly necessary to add that being a dictator was always bad.

Japan's Bite

It is quite possible that "the little brown brother" has bitten off more than he can chew.

Japan was nibbling into Chinese territory for a long time with apparent success, and then last month it undertook all of a sudden to make one grand meal of almost the whole seacoast area. A very large bite.

Uncle Sam learned, oh, so well, in 1917 and 1918, how much it cost to put an army in the field.

Japan has, roughly, a quarter of a million men engaged in subjugating various areas in China at present.

In Japan all ordinary industry is being directed into military channels. Millions of dollars in gold are pouring into the United States and into other selling nations to pay for Japan's badly needed war supplies.

Whether or not Japan can drive her armies thru China remains to be seen. It is our guess, though, that her present position is very much like the small boy whose eyes were bigger than his stomach.

Tennis is said to be the ideal game for women. It's been better since the players started wearing shorts.

Fireworks Ahead

The earth is slowing down. The Hayden Planetarium in New York City is showing a preview of the climax of this slowing.

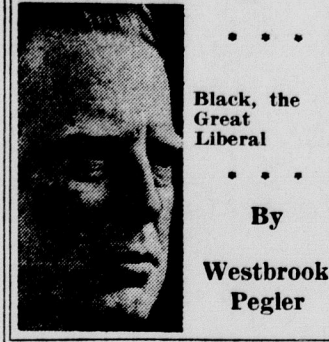

In a comparatively short space of time, astronomically speaking, our days have become one second longer because of the friction caused by the tides.

After a while the moon will move in closer and closer. Earth and moon will finally gallop around each other like the balls of a dumb-bell invisibly joined.

At long last the moon will plop itself right down upon the earth, and there will be a big splash and flash that will mean the end of time to life on this planet.

But let's don't worry too much about it, for the beginning of that end is at the very least 36,000,000 years away, say the experts.

FAIR Enough

Black, the Great Liberal

By

Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — Pardon me, friends, while I bust a few ribs laughing at your earnest, intellectual pals over there on the left, the ideology blokes who dusted off a spot on the floor and threw themselves a fit of jubilation over the appointment of Hugo Black to the United States supreme court as a great progressive victory.

Hugo, you remember, was one of those progressive statesmen of the new south like Senator Ellender, who helped Huey Long create his armed dictatorship; Bibb Graves, the old Kluxer who named his own wife to Black's seat in the senate; Theodore Bilbo who was given a $6,000 federal job clipping papers and magazines because his need of money was more urgent than that of the forgotten man, and Major George Berry, the millionaire labor leader and industrialist from Tennessee.

Hugo was going to liberalize the big court. Hugo had a broad mind and great intelligence, and it was a dirty outrage, by and large, that a little passel of wilful traitors to the mandate of the last election made it impossible for Mr. Roosevelt to turn over five more rocks and discover five more like him to out-vote the ornery old reactionaries left over from the dark and ignorant past.

FDR'S SELECTION
Well, maybe Hugo himself was a little bit crude around the edges, but he was Mr. Roosevelt's own selection and thus covered by the mandate and, anyway his innate progressiveness would more than compensate any professional judicial lack.

But now what's all this about Hugo Black's having been a member of the Ku Klux Klan in Alabama and his refusal, in the face of a plain accusation printed all over the country to say yes, yes or no go to hell?

If he was a member of the Ku Klux Klan, pledged by an oath elaborated from the blood-curdling vows that little boys take on joining the secret six in a cave, to persecute minorities for religious and racial reasons, is he still the progressive that he was a few weeks ago, and does the mandate wash away the bigotry?

NO CHILDREN
True, that would have been 10 years ago, but Hugo was no child even then, and the character that was capable of joining such a conspiracy against the rights of obnoxious, if Hugo did join, was set and hardened beyond change. And, granting that if he did join the Klan it was done only as a political ruse, how do you like having a man on the highest court in the country who was capable of taking the Ku Klux oath with all its talk of God, in a spirit of expediency, just to win a lousy political job? If a man can take one oath with his fingers crossed, might it not be a wise precaution to make him keep his hands in plain sight when he takes another, to uphold the constitution and administer justice impartially, and did anyone see to that when Hugo was sworn into the court?

And again, if he did join, a possibility which may reasonably be considered in view of his refusal to deny or admit that he did, what kind of character is this that put other senators and perhaps even the President himself on the spot by withholding this information from them knowing that his membership, past or present, would affect their judgment as to his fitness?

So this is one of the new progressives whom the millions demanded in the mandate, and whom our heavy-duty thinkers for the Butchers—paper magazine would like to see multiplied by six, so that labor will get a square shake in the big court, and the Scottsboro boys of some future time may be protected against local passion and prejudice.

MOTHER GOOSE NONSENSE

But I am thinking of the juvenile nonsense to which the great progressive justice was a party if he did join the Ku Klux Klan, and the embarrassment of our sombre and throaty pals over on the left as they refresh their memory of the Ku Klux jargon. If their great progressive was a Kluxer then he moved in a set which believed in imperial wizards, grand dragons, great titans, exalted cyclopes, grand klaniffs, imperial klavokations, kludds, kladdas, kleagles, kloreros and keepers, a mess of nonsense so preposterous and silly that no mature person can recite or even read it in cold print without an inward crawling and a blush that anyone beyond mother goose would give it a thought, much less take it seriously.

Is this the cause of the character and mentality of the great progressive justice, who is going to liberalize the court? If it isn't, Hugo Black owes it to all of us, and especially to his troubled little friends who thought he was the man the mandate called for, to deny it all for a dirty lie and then prove up.

Say it ain't so, Hugo; say it ain't so.

NEW YORK.—A general strike of waiters and cooks which will paralyze every first-class hotel and restaurant in Gotham, was decided on by the Waiters' and Cooks' union today, and unless the proprietors recognize the union a walkout will be planned for election night.

Absence of President Ely and Trustee Grubb last night caused postponement of action by the city council on a number of protests against establishment here of a "ladies" pool room.

Separated for 50 years, M. McWethy of Santa Ana and his nephew, George W. Flynn of Buffalo, N. Y., had a reunion in Santa Ana today. McWethy, a member of the G. A. R., learned that his nephew, whom he had not seen since the Civil war, was in Los Angeles as aide-de-camp to Commander Trimble at the G. A. R. national encampment.

NEW YORK. (AP)—The class in aviation is called on to answer the question:

"If the wind blew 180 miles an hour at an altitude of three and a half miles over Lansing, Mich., how hard was it blowing at seven miles?"

The class is the U. S. weather men and the aviators. The wind did blow exactly 180 miles an hour and I wanted to see an AVIATOR!

Furthermore the weather bureau has discovered that as a rule, the higher the altitude the faster the wind. This windways forecasting is a new science just being developed by the weather bureau. It was started with charts picking up the meager information of two years about winds at all levels from 20,000 to 46,000 feet.

The charts disclosed the 180-mile Lansing wind, the highest. They showed also that if at Brownsville, Texas, the wind was blowing at 11 miles an hour at three and a half miles high, it was doing 17 miles at twice that altitude. If the rule held true at Lansing, then on that December day at seven miles the breeze was 360 miles an hour.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

NEW YORK.—Senator Royal S. Copeland, bitter Roosevelt critic, will not win the Democratic nomination for mayor of New York, and his chances of capturing the Republican designation are not much better.

This is the outstanding development in the New York political scrap—a battle which, although only for the nomination of city tickets, actually is the most important balloting in America since last November.

Because of its importance, big-shot politics from both parties are applying the microscope, and here are some of the facts they have deduced:

1. Lambasting the New Deal does not yet win votes—at least not in New York. Senator Copeland, a Democrat, has been as rabid against the New Deal as any Republican ever thought of doing. But he has been steadily back-sliding.

2. This is Tammany's last stand. If defeated next November, the Wigwam might just as well close its flaps.

If Mayor La Guardia emerges victorious from both primary and election, as now seems probable, he will be strong presidential timber in 1940.

3. The day when Republican and Democrats can successfully combine on an anti-Roosevelt ticket still is in the future. All sorts of overtures were made to get a big league Republican to root for Copeland (National Committee-man Charley Hilles, ex-Commissioner of the Treasury, and ex-Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills all were approached), without result. Only the voice of Al Smith, anti-Roosevelt Democrat, was heard crying in the wilderness.

SOFT PEDALING
The whole strategy of Doctor Copeland at first was to make Roosevelt his whipping boy. He sprayed anti-New Deal vitriol all over Manhattan.

But it proved a dismal flop, and it played squarely into the hands of Mayor Fiorello (Little Flower) La Guardia and Judge Jeremiah Mahoney, the anti-Tammany Hall candidate.

In fact, the reaction against Copeland was so serious that during the closing days of the campaign, his master-minds had him dilute the New Deal attacks to milk and water. His previous roars of outraged indignation turned to a meek whisper that the New Deal had nothing to do with the case.

FDR FOR FIORELLO

It is now an open secret that Copeland at first was to make Roosevelt his whipping boy. He sprayed anti-New Deal vitriol all over Manhattan.

But it proved a dismal flop, and it played squarely into the hands of Mayor Fiorello (Little Flower) La Guardia and Judge Jeremiah Mahoney, the anti-Tammany Hall candidate.

In fact, the reaction against Copeland was so serious that during the closing days of the campaign, his master-minds had him dilute the New Deal attacks to milk and water. His previous roars of outraged indignation turned to a meek whisper that the New Deal had nothing to do with the case.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag.

WANTS G. O. P. EXPRESSION

To the Editor: Former President Hoover urges a national convention of Republicans. Affirmative leadership of this kind should be met in like spirit. Instead we have inexcusable staidsteping. Only out of the searching debate of a national convention can we Republicans fit ourselves, spiritually and intellectually to meet the New Deal. We have failed in this to date, because we have not yet met the challenge of the du Pont-Michelson smear.

The New Deal was founded on the smear. It continues to harp on it. Out of the smear it has built its narrow, and on the smear based its "emergencies." The smear was not merely an attack on Mr. Hoover. It went to the very heart of the Republican record. Only after we have met this challenge, therefore, can we rededicate ourselves to Republican principles and refresh ourselves at the fountain of Republican history.

Democrats demand clean-cut issues. The New Deal is leading America to the treadmill of forced labor under the collective state. The place for the Republican party is at the very opposite to such a program. Mr. Farley says the Republican party is dead, but 17,000,000 voters in 1936 signed a vehement protest against such a verdict, furnishing glorious evidences of vitality. In these 17,000,000 we find the bone and sinew of Republicanism. A political party with a record of achievement as great as that of the Republican party never dies—unless it dies at the top. What we now need, therefore, is an opportunity for debate—out of which will come a new grasp of principles and a vigorous fighting energy.

The mask has now been torn from the design behind the "objectives" of the New Deal. Issues are clearer, and a national convention is all important in giving Republicans the stimulation and inspiration needed in planning the struggle for the preservation of America.

It is time that the rank and file of the Republican party express itself, and I hope this letter will stimulate other Republicans to write the editor of this newspaper, giving their views.

One Man's Opinion

RIDING HIGH

I asked a young friend of mine, a high school junior, what he would rather do than anything else in the world. It's a rather vague question, I know, and was asked primarily so I might watch the youngster's mental wheels mesh and gear up into high speed.

After prying off some natural questions that came immediately from him, as to whether I meant his life's work, or for the good of the world, or for his own selfish ambition, and some other similar points, we got down to brass tacks.

It was a pretty, sunny Sunday afternoon. Fine weather for anything.

He pondered the question for just a few moments and then replied: "Right now I'd rather be flying 'way up in the blue sky in an airplane, with myself at the controls."

Now the young man cannot fly an airplane, having not as yet learned the tricks of that trade. He was doing a little imagining. So I did a little imagining with him.

Did he want to make flying his life's work, or did he expect to be concerned with the building, designing or operating of airplanes as a major pursuit? No, he hadn't decided on anything of the kind.

After a few more questions he told me that the idea of "piloting" seemed to be the thing that interested him. Riding high and a little bit dangerously was part of the appeal of the situation he had imagined.

"Piloting people" was a phrase that came into his side of the conversation. I could tell that he didn't mean ferrying them through the skyways. No, he meant leading them. Leading them to what?

Oh, toward better lives, perhaps. Not necessarily religious lives but good, complete, understanding, fully-conscious lives that some-where, nearly fulfilled the highest possibilities of human existence. No direct quotations are used here because our thoughts and talk were jumbled.

I suggested, by degrees, that he is at all times piloting his own destiny through the maze we call life, that he is actually riding on the world, and that even that ride is "a little high and dangerous." It takes some good, conscientious piloting to bring just one human life through to a decent and happy ending.

He agreed.

A CYCLIST

Mose was slowly pedaling his dilapidated bicycle down the village street.

"There he goes," cried mammy. "There goes who?" demanded her friend.

"Why ma' hush'n. Look at him; he's so shiftless that he sits down to walk."

WHIMSIES

McINTYRE

NEW YORK.—From Nyack up the Hudson the other day I motored along part of the delightful stretch of the Tappan Zee that Washington Irving so beglamoured. Still the flavor of revolutionary days. Especially at an old tavern at which we stopped.

A tavern that boasted the very table on which Washington signed away the life of Andre. Also the "original bar," which was doing middle well with trade. There was indeed a bit too much bluster in the presence of so much of yesterday's presence really calling for bowed heads.

Too, I wandered among the old red and scarious gravestones of a little white church, etched against a perfect sky. And noting the stones recorded the passing of innumerable octogenarians and there was the wonder if, after all, the doctors are lengthening life today.

Too, I talked to a sturdy young man on the roadside who said he was from Pleasantville and was on his way to Sneeden's Landing. There was something poetic about those names. Names that a hurrying civilization should not allow to die. Like Dobbs Ferry, they suggest a simple life we may never know again.

The screen is never so disillusioning for the popular star as is the legitimate theater. The cinema art of make-up can keep a star at pulchritudinous par for years. But the footlights, no matter the artifices reveal all. I saw a glamorous stage star after ten years the other night. In spite of the beauty parlors and such, she had moved on to a certain autumn quietude. She tried to be kitchiness and express the old come-hither, but it wouldn't jell. Ladies rarely learn nature's lesson from the plum thick that blooms at the roadside and the dried leaves that stir in the November winds and the aches and pains of the old people's home. The lesson is that the Sweet Sweetness of youth can be played but once and briefly in the drama of life. It cannot be carried through the years.

Joe Moore, newspaper and magazine publisher, who passed on a month or so ago, had what many regarded as the town's most contagious laugh. He was of enormous build, and when his round moon-face rippled into a setting for a roaring guffaw no one in the neighborhood could keep a straight face. He had a roar that shook the rafters and often touched off a solemn dining room in a whoop. Moore died exactly as he wished. He often said he would like to go out like a falling star. After enjoying a full meal he had dined sumptuously at one of his favorite restaurants and was descending to the street when he slumped on the stairs, expiring before a doctor in the place could reach him.

Booth Tarkington is one of the few top flight writers able to check writing for several years, return to it and turn out stuff as good as ever. His failing eyesight, now almost normal, has on three occasions kept him from writing for long periods. During these convalescences he never wrote a line, but in each case when he started again editors declared he was just as capable in plotline, character delineation and dialogue as ever. He is brushing the 70's.

Theodore Roosevelt was said to be the swiftest of readers among laymen. He could scan an entire page almost at a glance, although his eyes were weak and he had to wear heavy-lensed glasses. Chief Justice Holmes was also able to digest a typewritten page as others read five or six lines. Most magazine editors are block readers. Harry Burton can rifle through a manuscript while talking to the author, and intelligently discuss the plot.

Bright Moments

Joseph II, when kaiser of Austria, was making a tour of a very famous prison. As was the kindly custom, he asked many why they were there. To the man they all said they were innocent—who threw himself at Joseph's feet, admitted his guilt, and begged forgiveness. The ruler looked at the warden, raised the fellow up, and said: "This bad fellow is spoiling all the innocent ones; send him home to his people."
